

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Nazi Germany as Part of the Modern Global Media System	1
1 Berlin 1932–37: The Most Exciting News Center in the World	21
2 Media Events and Scoops during the Expansion of the Third Reich in 1938–41 and the Triumph of Radio in Politics	92
3 Karl Henry von Wiegand, the Hearst Press, and National Socialism	153
4 Secret Photos: Covert Cooperation between AP and Nazi Germany, 1942–45	209
5 “Why didn’t the press shout?”: American Foreign Correspondents and the Holocaust	259
Summary: The Permanent Presence of the Foreign Press in Nazi Germany	352
Bibliography	371
Index of Names	431