

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
Tom Easterbrook's Lecture Notes for Innis 4b	1
September 23, 1952: How best to get at the work of Harold Innis?	1
September 30, 1952: Main subjects and readings	7
October 7, 1952: Innis's interests and methodology	11
October 14, 1952: Why so much fuss about communications?	14
October 21, 1952: Receptivity to Innis	25
October 28, 1952: Greece—Innis's ideal-type culture	28
November 18, 1952: The value of studying antiquity	31
November 25, 1952: Innis's transition to the subject of communications	36
December 2, 1952: Capacities involving Roman and common law	41
January 6, 1953: Ways of thinking and developments in law	46
January 20, 1953: Conditions enabling the Byzantine empire	52
January 27, 1953: Byzantium: history of an ideal-type empire	56
February 3, 1953: Implications of media—Byzantium to the 20th century	64
February 10, 1953: A brief comment on Innis's methodology	78
February 17, 1953: The press, time, economics, and Innis's unfinished paper	79

viii | CONTENTS

Appendix I Course documents	103
Summer vacation reading list (no author, n.d.)	103
Fourth-year reading list in Economic History (likely prepared by Harold Innis, 1950)	106
Reading list for Economics 4b (likely prepared by Harold Innis, 1951)	107
First essay topic (prepared by Harold Innis and Tom Easterbrook, 1952)	108
Final examination questions (prepared by Harold Innis, 1951)	109
Final examination questions (prepared by Tom Easterbrook, 1953)	110
Appendix II Innis's final paper: Harold Innis, "The Decline in the Efficiency of Instruments Essential in Equilibrium" from the American Economic Review Vol. 43 No. 1 (1953), 16–22	111
Appendix III Tom Easterbrook, "Harold Adams Innis 1894–1952" from the American Economic Review Vol. 43 No. 1 (1953), 8–12	119
Appendix IV Tom Easterbrook, "Innis and Economics" from The Canadian Journal of Economics and Political Science Vol. 19 No. 3 (1953), 291–303	125
Appendix V Tom Easterbrook Interview, 21 November 1972	139
Index	151