

Table of Contents

Abstract 5

Acknowledgements 7

Preface 13

Introduction 17

Argument Overview 20

Significance of the Argument 24

Chapter Summaries 30

Definitions and Limitations 33

Excursus: Why Study the Pantheism Controversy? A Case Study 35

God’s Absoluteness and Personality 37

The Context: Modern Epistemological Concerns and Pantheism 39

Conclusion 45

Chapter 1: Pantheism Controversy: A Forgotten Legacy 47

1.1 Pantheism Controversy: The Metaphorical Murder of the Aufklärung and the Reviving of the “Dead Dog,” Spinoza 48

1.2 The Failure of Mendelssohn’s God of Reason 50

1.2.1 Rational Religion and Reason 51

1.2.2 Chastening Spinoza: “Purified Pantheism” 54

1.2.3 Mendelssohn’s Failure: Kant’s Critique and the Unclear Identity of Reason 55

1.3 Conclusion 59

Chapter 2: The Paradox of Jacobi’s Personal and Absolute God of Faith 61

2.1 Spinozism and Nihilism: The End of Reason 62

2.1.1 Determinism and Nihilism 65

2.1.2 Spinoza’s Immanent Absolute and the Denial of Individuality 67

2.2 Jacobi and the Personal God 69

2.2.1 The Personal God: Self-Consciousness and I/Thou Relations 70

2.2.2 The Absolute, Transcendent God and the Denial of the Incarnation .. 73

2.3 Right Action and Right Thinking: Faith, Reason, and Revelation 76

2.3.1 Non-Knowing Knowing: The God Within 76

2.3.2 The Epistemology of Action 82

2.4 Conclusion 85

Chapter 3: Avoiding the Personal God: Nineteenth-Century Solutions. The Non-Personal Absolute of Fichte and Herder 87

3.1 Fichte: The Absolute as the Non-Personal Moral-World Order 87

3.1.1 Intellectual Intuition and the Infinite God 89

3.1.2 The Immanent Absolute as Moral-World Order 94

3.1.3 Consequences: The Unknowable God of Inevitable Necessity 96

3.2 Excursus: Herder’s Non-personal, Sensible Immanent Absolute 102

3.3 Conclusion 106

Chapter 4: The Personal God and the Indifferent Absolute of Schelling 109

4.1 Negative and Positive Philosophy: “Why is There Something instead of Nothing?” 110

4.2 The Personal God: The Radically Free Lord of Being 114

4.2.1 Monotheism: Overcoming Pantheism and Theism 116

4.2.2 Absolute Freedom and the Potencies 118

4.3 The Absolute → God: The Self-Conditioning Unconditioned 122

4.3.1 From the Absolute to the Personal God 123

4.3.2 Absoluteness Reconceived 125

4.4 History, Becoming, and the Absolute 128

4.5 Conclusion 132

Chapter 5: A Mediating Link between the Pantheism Controversy and Barth:
Dorner’s God as the Absolutely Ethical, Triune Person 135

5.1 Speculative Theology: Revelation, Experience, Faith, and Reason 136

5.2 Absolute Personality: Ethical and Triune 139

5.2.1 *Overcoming Pantheism and Deism with the Triune, Personal Absolute
God* 140

5.2.2 The Triune Ethical Essence: A Dialectic of Freedom and Necessity ... 143

5.3 Divine Immutability: The Unity of the Suprahistorical and Historical ... 148

5.3.1 Ethical Immutability as Self-Identity 150

5.3.2 Ethical Immutability: A Real, Reciprocal Relation 151

5.4 Conclusion 153

Chapter 6: Karl Barth: The Divine “No” to All Human Capacities 157

6.1 The Risky Venture of Theology and the Unavoidable Necessity of Philosophy 159

6.1.1 Theology: A Human Discipline 160

6.1.2 Selbstoffenbarung: Theology's Sole Ursprung as the Miracle of Divine Grace	163
6.2 Philosophical Temptations: To Know God from Oneself	168
6.2.1 Fate: Natura sive Dei	169
6.2.2 Idea: Ratio sive Dei	172
6.3 Excursus: Rejecting False Asceticism	176
6.4 Conclusion	178
Chapter 7: Transition: From the Necessary Incompatibility of Divine Absoluteness and Personhood to Absolute Personhood
7.1 The Necessary Incompatibility of Absoluteness and Personality	183
7.1.1 Defining Personality and Absoluteness	183
7.1.2 The Irreconcilability of Personality and Absoluteness	184
7.1.3 Religious Experience Affirms the Paradox of Personality and Absoluteness	185
7.2 Avoiding Feuerbach: Rejecting the Analogy from Human Personality ...	186
7.3 Resolution of the Conceptual Paradox: The New Dialectic	188
7.3.1 Rejecting the Absoluteness/Personality Paradox	188
7.3.2 The New Paradox: Divine Grace and Lost Humanity	192
7.4 Veiled/Unveiled: The Teleologically-Ordered Dialectic	194
7.5 Conclusion	200
Chapter 8: Karl Barth's Concept of God's Absolute Personhood
8.1 Conceptual Mediation of the Pantheism Controversy: Dorner	206
8.2 God's Absolute Personhood	208
8.2.1 Personhood: Transcending and Encompassing Natur/Geist	209
8.2.2 God is the Self-Moved Person	211
8.2.3 Decision	213
8.2.4 Reconceptualising Absoluteness: God is Absolutely a se and pro se ..	217
8.3 The Problem of Uncertain Counterfactuals: Genuine or Fictional?	221
8.3.1 Fictional Possibilities or Genuine Rejected Possibilities?	221
8.3.2 Consequences	225
8.4 Reframing God's Personhood as Self-Mastery in Lordship	227
8.4.1 Necessity and God's Self-Lordship	228
8.4.2 Autonomy Thesis: Is God the Radically Autonomous Person?	233
8.5 Conclusion	237
Conclusion	239
Works Cited	245

Index 257