

Table of Contents

11	The Madness of Being a Queen Convention: The Modern Dream of Order Quasi-Objects: The Spaces of Photography What is “Modern” Representation? Chapter Summaries
41	1 Queen on a Cardboard Card Victoria and Photography Becoming a Product: Accessibility and Ownership The Social Function of Portraiture: Joshua Reynolds in Photographic Discourse An Authentic Queen: Royal Portraiture and Photography The Dream of Social Order: Imagination and Visual Construction Queens at Home: Female Positions, Spaces, and Practices
87	2 Society on an Album Page Politics of Design: The Aesthetic Work of Aristocratic Women The Conversation Piece: Group Portraiture for “Polite Society” Drawing Room Collages: Updating Gentility in the Photo Album Diamond, Grid, and Honeycomb: The Collage as an Ordering Device
129	3 Family in the Drawing Room The Paradox of the Drawing Room Hints and Lessons The Photo Studio: Truthful Likeness in a Public Drawing Room Circulating the Drawing Room Queens at Home: Authorities of Order
169	4 History in a Slide Set A Blow to the National Self-Confidence: The War in Crimea Change of Perspective: Victoria as Eyewitness A Shock to Moral Order: The Indian Uprising An Empress of India for the British Imagination Victoria’s Time: History as an Ordering Device

209	5 Queen in the Mud
	Losing One's Head: Theories of Modern Representation
	Fear of the Void: Britain's Reception of the French Revolution
	Photography: Dreaming Order
227	Acknowledgments
229	Bibliography
249	Image Credits