

Contents

Part I Introduction

1 The Politics of Military Reform in Indonesia and Nigeria . . . . .	3
Jürgen Rüland and Maria-Gabriela Manea

Part II Military Reform in Indonesia and Nigeria

2 Taking Stock of Military Reform in Indonesia . . . . .	29
Leonard C. Sebastian and Iisgindarsah
3 Taking Stock of Military Reform in Nigeria . . . . .	57
Maria-Gabriela Manea and Jürgen Rüland
4 Reinventing the Military as a Political Actor: Alternative Discourses of Civil-Military Relations in Nigeria . . . . .	77
Jonah Isawa Elaigwu
5 Military Businesses in Post-Suharto Indonesia: Decline, Reform and Persistence . . . . .	101
Marcus Mietzner and Lisa Misol

Part III Legislatures and Non-state Actors in Military Reform

6 The Legislature and Military Reform in Indonesia . . . . .	123
Jürgen Rüland and Maria-Gabriela Manea
7 The Role of Civil Society in Indonesia's Military Reform . . . . .	147
Rizal Sukma
8 Parliament, Civil Society and Military Reform in Nigeria . . . . .	161
E. Remi Aiyede

Part IV Rogue Forces and Military Reform

- 9 Security Challenges and Military Reform in Post-authoritarian Indonesia: The Impact of Separatism, Terrorism, and Communal Violence . . . . . 185
 Jun Honna
- 10 The Niger Delta Conflict and Military Reform in Nigeria . . . . . 201
 Christian A. Lutz

Part V Conclusion

- 11 Reviving Security Sector Reform in Transition States: Lessons Learned from Indonesia and Nigeria . . . . . 225
 Hans Born