

CONTENTS

Introduction by Christopher Bamford xi

1.

STUTTGART, JUNE 12, 1921

Difficulties of religious working in the current situation. Theology or religion. The Word. The sermon. Natural causality and ethical impulses: how do human beings fit, with their ethical impulses, into the laws of nature? Answers of spiritual science. Doctrine and ritual. Preliminary answers to questions in three areas: ritual, sermon, and community building.

pages 1–31

2.

STUTTGART, JUNE 13, 1921

Community building as a foundation for religious working. Necessity of the Threefold Social Organism. Youth Movement, authority-principle; building of cliques. Task: enlarge the present number of people in the group. How can the Threefold impulse work practically in the realm of the religious life? Example: marriage. Divine harmony as a task of the time. Difference between a religious community and the Anthroposophical Movement. Answers to questions: Connect with the church or with Anthroposophical branches. Religion instruction in the Waldorf school. Old Catholicism. Founding of free communities.

Discussion

Practical aspects: Possibility of enlarging the number of people in the group and the financing of the cause. Central office. Should all who want to work together for the renewal of religion be Anthroposophists? Preparation in theology and other areas?

pages 32–68

3.

STUTTGART, JUNE 14, 1921 (MORNING)

Religious deepening is not possible without ritual. Intellectualism in modern theology. Religious instruction in the Waldorf schools; Sunday service and confirmation. Catholic Mass and ritualistic acts in the Mysteries: Gospel reading, offering, transubstantiation, communion. Working through the picture or image: pictorial speaking, symbol. On the translation by Rudolf Steiner of the Catholic Mass. Boundaries of natural scientific ideas in the example of the human being becoming physical (cell of the egg). Why renewal of religion through Anthroposophy? Discussion of practical aspects: Financing (Der Kommende Tag, Hermann Heisler). Preparation for pictorial speaking. Fourteen-day course possible. Legends.

pages 69–93

4.

STUTTGART, JUNE 14, 1921 (EVENING)

Questions and answers. Form of the ritual. Ritual acts of Freemasonry. How do symbols arise, and how is symbolism possible today? Living into the genius of language and speech; pictorial soul life. A modern ritual must be simple and be the expression for the inner transformation of the human being. Forming a mantra. Music in the ritual. Rituals given by Rudolf Steiner. Concerning the baptism ritual. Seven sacraments: for every evolution-form of the human being there is also an involution-form. Laying on of hands. Priest vestment.

pages 94–117

5.

STUTTGART, JUNE 15, 1921

The sermon. The picture element must pass over into the feeling and into the will impulses. The significance of rhythmical repetitions. About John 1:3: the eternal and the temporal; existence and subsistence. Meditation as preparation for the sermon. Cardinal Newman's wrestling for Christian truths. Anthroposophy as bearing the element of religious life. An example of pictorial speaking. Overcoming imaginations bound to space; the innocence of nature and the becoming guilty of the human being. Immortality and pre-existence. The Gloria. Christ brings about balance between Lucifer and Ahriman.

Discussion

Preparation of a further course: place, financing, participants, promotional means, Central Office, required education. Discussion about Anthroposophy and religion.

pages 118–161

STUTTGART, JUNE 16, 1921

About the nature of human memory. The astral body as reader of the esoteric script. The sacred art of writing in ancient times. The origin of the art of printing books. Goethe's relation to color. The significance of judgments out of the folk nature, of sympathy and antipathy for a particular folk soul.

pages 162–178

APPENDIX

Blackboard Drawings 180

Notebook Entries 183

Promotional Piece 193

Chronological Overview 205

List of the Participants 215

Editorial and Reference Notes 217

Rudolf Steiner's Collected Works 243

Significant Events in the Life of Rudolf Steiner 259

Index 273