

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Introductory remarks	9
Chapter 1: Meaning as socio-cognitive dynamism	11
1.1. Introductory remarks	11
1.2. All paths lead to cognition	12
1.2.1. The Lakoffian route	14
1.2.1.1. Categories, categorization and conceptual figurativeness	16
1.2.1.2. Context	19
1.2.2. The Langackerian route	23
1.2.2.1. (Inter)subjectivity and objectivity	25
1.2.2.2. Back on track	34
1.3. When in a community, do as the others do	38
1.3.1. Language acquisition	39
1.3.2. Language use	41
1.4. Concluding remarks	48
Chapter 2: Meaning underway: How semiotic meaning is	51
2.1. Introductory remarks	51
2.2. Saussurean sign	54
2.3. Peircean sign	74
2.4. Concluding remarks	99
Chapter 3: Phenomenology of meaning	101
3.1. Introductory remarks	101
3.2. Consciousness (un)limited	102
3.3. Where objectivity and intersubjectivity meet	115
3.3.1. Subjectivity	115
3.3.2. Objectivity	130
3.3.3. Intersubjectivity	138
3.3.4. Pure consciousness	144
3.4. Concluding remarks	147
Chapter 4: The world of meaning	149
4.1. Introductory remarks	149
4.2. An unfinished world	152
4.3. The categories of my world	159
4.3.1. Firstness, Secondness, Thirdness: Preliminaries	160
4.3.2. Firstness	166

4.3.3. Secondness	169
4.3.4. Thirdness	175
4.4. Concluding remarks	178
Concluding remarks.....	183
References	187