

Contents

Preface 7

1 One crisis does not yet denote a catastrophe. Two crises denote a psychological challenge 13

1.1 How the financial crisis was made worse 13

1.2 Was it only the economy that failed? 17

1.3 What impact has the crisis had on you? 22

1.4 What marks has the crisis left in companies and in society? 25

1.5 Interview with Winfried Neun by Raimund Brichta and Anton Voglmaier 28

Thought-provoking points 31

2 When events happen in quick succession: The (particular) dynamics of a crisis 33

2.1 Do you believe in psychological laws in the crisis? 33

2.2 Do we still trust our systems? 35

2.3 What should we do – wait or act? 38

2.4 What you should know about Background Personality 40

Thought-provoking points 43

3 Stone age relics: How each one of us can handle a crisis 45

3.1 Evolution is always one step ahead 45

3.2 How free are we in making our own decisions? 53

3.3 How information influences our psyche 64

3.4 Making decisions is good. Action is better! 66

Thought-provoking points 69

4 The pioneer's success:
How companies can take advantage of a crisis	71
4.1 How does a company become resistant to crises?.....	71
4.2 Seeing a crisis as a chance!	75
4.3 How can psychological planning errors be avoided?.....	78
4.4 Can we re-define growth?.....	81
Thought-provoking points.....	86
 5 Social market economy reloaded:
What society and politics can learn from a crisis	87
5.1 Reforming and controlling financial markets:
An interview with Raimund Brichta	87
5.2 Does Europe have a future?.....	91
5.3 Performance must be rewarded!.....	92
5.4 It is easy to make demands, but it is more difficult to make changes... 94
Thought-provoking points.....	96
 6 Living changes actively: Crisis prophylaxis for everyone	97
6.1 Can our willingness to change prevent a crisis?.....	97
6.2 Changes start in our heads!	100
6.3 The art of letting go will make you successful!.....	101
6.4 Lateral thinking helps to overcome obstacles!.....	104
6.5 How do we become lateral thinkers?	106
Thought-provoking points.....	109

7 The philosopher's stone: Crisis prophylaxis in companies.....	111
7.1 Are we truly innovative?.....	111
7.2 Why innovation psychology is an engine for success	115
7.3 It is the mood that counts!.....	122
7.4 An interview providing examples of success: Schott AG and Wirtschaftsförderung Konstanz	124
Thought-provoking points.....	132
 8 No intelligent growth without risk: Crisis prophylaxis in society and politics	 135
8.1 Does growth make us happy?	135
8.2 Is it possible to have growth with new values?.....	139
8.3 Three rules to avoid a crisis	145
Thought-provoking points.....	148
 9 How and where do we go from here?	 151
9.1 How to become even more successful	151
9.2 When hesitation turns into fear.....	152
9.3 We are spoilt for choice	152
Thought-provoking points.....	154
 10 Conclusion.....	 155
 References	 157
Index	161
Comments on the book	167
The Author	169