

OPPOSITES ATTRACT – 345 SQUARE MILES OF BERLIN

Page 16

TOUTING FOR CUSTOM –
BERLIN'S THREE CITY CENTRES

Page 30

Special
GERMANY'S MOST FAMOUS CUL-DE-SAC –
THE BRANDENBURG GATE

Page 38

Special
THE BIG DEBATE – PARTIAL RECONSTRUCTION OF THE OLD
HOHENZOLLERN PALACE

Page 52

Special
HISTORIC COLLECTION –
BERLIN'S ISLAND OF MUSEUMS

Page 72

Special
CURTAIN UP – THEATRICAL GOINGS-ON
IN THE CITY OF BERLIN

Page 98

Special Page 116

THE "PROTECTIVE WALL AGAINST FASCISM" – THE MONSTROSITY OF
THE BERLIN WALL

Page 130

WHERE THE WILD
THINGS ARE – THE SUBURBS OF BERLIN

Special Page 140

COUNTRY LIFE –
BERLIN'S VILLA QU'ARTER

Page 144

POTSDAM –
PRUSSIAN SUMMER RESIDENCE
OUTSIDE BERLIN

Index Page 154

Map Page 155

Credits Page 156

Page 12/13:

Berlin Cathedral in winter. The architectural language of the mighty domed edifice from 1905 eloquently expresses the religious fervour and imperial might of Prussia's former rulers, the Hohenzollern. Many are laid to rest in the cathedral vaults.

Page 14/15:

The mood is relaxed on Potsdamer Platz, the reconstruction of which includes several new streets and squares, including Marlene-Dietrich-Platz. The blue balloon sculpture on the left is by American pop and kitsch artist Jeff Koons, its polished metal surface glittery with water.