

CONTENTS

List of Tables .....	xi
List of Figures .....	xiii
Acknowledgments .....	xv
Foreword .....	xvii
Introduction .....	1
Setting .....	1
Historical Overview .....	4
Interrogating the Role of HBCU Laboratory Schools, through Alabama State College Laboratory High School .....	7
Organization .....	8
PART 1—LABORATORY SCHOOLS IN HISTORICAL CONTEXT
Chapter 1—Beginnings: The Promise of Secondary and Higher Education .....	17
The Jesse Jones Report: A Firm Foundation or a Specious Study .....	22
A New Era of Education: Secondary and Laboratory Schools in Progress .....	31
Separate and Unequal: Funding and Control of Black Secondary Education .....	32
Spreading the Message of Disadvantage: Public Relations Problems .....	40
Chapter 2—Intersections, Opportunities, and Strategies for Advancement, 1920–1940s: Black Laboratory Schools and Progressive Education .....	49

Meeting the Needs of the South: Dual Perspectives of the “Most Suitable” Black High School Curriculum .....	55
Intersections and Opportunities in the Progressive Education Era.....	61
Curriculum Reconstruction and Experimentation: The Black High School Study.....	69
A Paucity of Studies on African American Education.....	80
PART 2—CREATING “PRECIOUS SCHOLARS” AT ALABAMA STATE COLLEGE LABORATORY HIGH SCHOOL
Chapter 3—Seeds of Inspiration and Effective Administration.....	95
“A University for Colored People” .....	95
African American President John William Beverly: Boldly Working within the Alabama Caste.....	111
George Washington Trenholm: “A Master Builder”.....	128
Chapter 4—History and Development of Alabama State College Laboratory High School, the “Heart” of the Institution .....	139
Harper Councill Trenholm: “Slowly and Cautiously”
Influencing Secondary Education.....	139
Accreditation: Realization, Recognition, and Respect .....	151
Partnerships for Advancement .....	161
The NEA and NATCS .....	162
Partnering with ASNLH: Education in African American History and Culture .....	162
State Teachers College and Laboratory High School as Hosts .....	164
Triumphs and Trials: Surviving the Great Depression in Southern Education .....	167
A Changing Society.....	171
Chapter 5—“Lab High”: Privilege and Promise in Secondary Education .....	175
“We Were Taught to Push Boundaries” .....	175
Enrollments .....	181
Facilities .....	189
Teachers and Curriculum .....	194
Extracurricular Activities and Special Electives .....	201
“Negro History and Culture” and the “Challenge of Democracy” .....	204

Conclusion .....	213
“Students Were Encouraged to Excel and Be Change Agents” .....	213
Appendices.....	221
Appendix A: Names of the Institution .....	221
Appendix B: Alabama State Teachers College Buildings .....	221
Appendix C: Accredited Black High Schools—1931.....	223
Notes .....	225
Selected Bibliography .....	277
Index .....	303