

Contents

Foreword by Mark Evan Bonds	vii
Acknowledgments	xi
Abbreviations	xii
Chronology	xiii
Introduction Nicole Grimes	1
Part One: Rules of Engagement
1 Negotiating the “Absolute”: Hanslick’s Path through Musical History James Deaville	15
2 Hanslick’s Composers Fred Everett Maus	38
3 Hanslick, Legal Processes, and Scientific Methodologies: How Not to Construct an Ontology of Music Anthony Pryer	52
4 Otakar Hostinský, the Musically Beautiful, and the Gesamtkunstwerk Felix Wörner	70
Part Two: Liberalism and Societal Order
5 Hanslick on Johann Strauss Jr.: Genre, Social Class, and Liberalism in Vienna Dana Gooley	91
6 Waltzing around the Musically Beautiful: Listening and Dancing in Hanslick’s Hierarchy of Musical Perception Chantal Frankenbach	108
7 “Poison-Flaming Flowers from the Orient and Nightingales from Bayreuth”: On Hanslick’s Reception of the Music of Goldmark David Brodbeck	132

8	German Humanism, Liberalism, and Elegy in Hanslick's Writings on Brahms Nicole Grimes	160
Part Three: Memoirs and Meaning in Social Contexts
9	The Critic as Subject: Hanslick's Aus meinem Leben as a Reflection on Culture and Identity Lauren Freede	187
10	"Faust und Hamlet in Einer Person": The Musical Writings of Eduard Hanslick as Part of the Gender Discourse in the Late Nineteenth Century Marion Gerards	212
11	Body and Soul, Content and Form: On Hanslick's Use of the Organism Metaphor Nina Noeske	236
Part Four: Critical Battlefields
12	Hanslick and Hugo Wolf Timothy R. McKinney	261
13	Battle Rejoined: Hanslick and the Symphonic Poem in the 1890s David Larkin	289
14	On "Jewishness" and Genre: Hanslick's Reception of Gustav Mahler David Kasunic	311
Selected Bibliography		339
List of Contributors		345
Index		351