Introduction	1
Chapter One: The Principle Of Mental Causation	7
1.1: Varieties of Mental Causation	7
1.2: Arguments for the Principle of Mental Causation	10
1.3: Autonomous Mental Causation	13
1.4: Objections to the Principle of Mental Causation	24
Chapter Two: The Principle of Physical Causal Completeness	29
2.1: Varieties of Physical Causal Completeness	29
2.2: Arguments for the Principle of Physical Causal Completeness	33
2.3: Objections to the Principle of Physical Causal Completeness	40
Chapter Three: The Principle of Irreducibility	43
3.1: Varieties of Irreducibility	43
3.2: Arguments for the Principle of Irreducibility	45
3.3: Problems with Functional Reduction	52
Chapter Four: The Principle of Causal Exclusion	61
4.1: The Principle of Causal Exclusion	61
4.2: Arguments for the Principle of Causal Exclusion	64
4.3: Independent Overdetermination	67
4.4: Dependent Overdetermination	69
4.5: Problems with Dependent Overdetermination	72
4.6: Summary of the Causal Exclusion Problem	76
Chapter Five: Causal Exclusion and Causation	79
5.1: Models of Causation	79
5.2: Similarities and Differences	83
5.3: Counterfactual and Nomological Solutions	87
5.4: Problems with Kim's Generative Account	90

5.5: The Joint Causation Solution to the Causal Exclusion Problem	93
5.6: The Joint Causation Solution and the Necessity Problem	99
5.7: The Joint Causation Solution and Physical Causal Completeness ..	102
5.8: Causal Sufficiency and Determinative Background Conditions	106
Chapter Six: Causal Exclusion, Events and Properties	109
6.1: The Property Exemplification Model of Events	109
6.2: Davidsonian Events and the Causal Exclusion Problem	114
6.3: MacDonald and MacDonald and the Causal Exclusion Problem	118
6.4: Mental-As-Mental Causation and Autonomous Mental Causation .	124
6.5: Necessary Explanation and Autonomous Mental Causation	126
6.6: The Joint Causation Solution and the Event Fragility Objection	133
Chapter Seven: Causal Exclusion and Mereological Systems	139
7.1: Mereological Systems	139
7.2: The Generalization Problem	142
7.3: Mereological Determination	147
7.4: The Joint Causation Solution and Mereological Summation	150
Chapter Eight: Nonreductive Solutions	153
8.1: The Supervenience Solution	153
8.2: The Emergentist Solution	157
8.3: The Functionalist Solution	160
Chapter Nine: Mereological Emergentism	167
9.1: C. Lloyd Morgan's Mereological Emergentism	167
9.2: Mereological Emergentism and the Causal Exclusion Principle	172
9.3: Mereological Emergentism and the Co-Dependence Objection	176
9.4: Mereological Emergentism and Mental Causation	182
9.5: Mereological Emergentism and Physical Causal Completeness	185
9.6: Mereological Emergentism and Irreducibility	186
9.7: Conclusions	187
