

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction: Reading Rivalries in Illustrated Literary Realism	1
1. Kemble and Twain: Sketching “Truths” within the Minstrel Masquerade	29
2. Kemble and Stowe: Taking Liberties with Slave Imagery	58
3. Loeb and Twain: Returning to the Illustrated Scene of the Crime	86
4. Newell and Crane: Keeping Close to a Personal Honesty of Vision	108
5. Kemble and Dunbar: Manipulating the Masks of Folks from Dixie	134
6. Wenzell and Wharton: Marketing The House of Mirth ’s Designs	159
Coda. Owen, Skeete, and Hopkins: Countering the Caricatures of Literary Realism	190
Notes	199
Works Cited	213
Index	223