

Contents

Foreword by Sayyid Haitham bin Tariq Al Said	XIII
Preface to the English Edition	XIV
Preface to the Original Edition	XV
Arabic Names and Terms	XVI
 INTRODUCTION	 1
Muscat – A Unique City	3
1. The Capital City of Oman in the Spotlight	5
2. The Resurgence of the Sultanate of Oman	7
 FIRST PART	 17
Muscat – Four Centuries	19
1. The Coastal Settlement (16 th Century and Earlier)	21
2. The Port City (17 th /18 th Century)	29
2.1 Natural Bases	29
2.2 Oriental Cities and Long-distance Trade (Excursus)	34
2.3 Portuguese Presence and Town Layout	37
2.4 Ya'ariba Rule and the Seaward Aspect of Oman	46
3. The Centre of Trade (18 th /19 th Century)	59
3.1 Al Bu Said Rule and Increasing International Significance	59
3.2 Urban Structure and Function of the Town as Reflected in Contemporary Literature (1750-1860)	69
3.2.1 Fortifications	70
3.2.2 Layout of the Town	71
3.2.3 Souq, Merchandise and Commerce	76
3.2.4 Inhabitants	85
3.3 Role and Importance of Indian Merchants in and for Oman	87
4. The Capital (19 th /20 th Century)	91
4.1 Decline in Power and External Influence	91
4.2 Urban Structure and Function of the Town as Reflected in Contemporary Literature (1860-1970)	96
4.2.1 Architectural Situation and Functional Status (up to 1900)	97
4.2.2 Attempt at an Urban Geographical Sketch (around 1900)	106
4.2.3 Continuation of a Condition (1900 to 1970)	118

5. Summarising a Remarkable Urban Development Process	121
5.1 Three Indicators	121
5.2 Discussion of a Hypothesis	129
SECOND PART	133
Muscat – A Decade	135
1. The Capital of the Sultanate of Oman: Capital Area?	137
1.1 Geographical Features	138
1.2 Concepts for Urban Expansion	141
1.2.1 Hesitant Beginnings	141
1.2.2 Responsible Institutions	143
1.2.3 Concrete Plans	146
1.2.4 Unavoidable Difficulties	149
1.2.5 Definitive Measures	151
1.3 Development in Terms of Construction Zones and Infrastructure ...	155
1.3.1 Phased Development	155
1.3.2 Architectural Innovations (Excursus)	161
1.3.3 Governing Causes, Responsible Sponsors	163
1.3.4 Infrastructure	167
1.4 Functional-Geographical Differentiation	172
1.4.1 Intended Goal	173
1.4.2 The Reality that has Evolved	174
1.5 Socio-Geographic Processes and Patterns	185
1.5.1 Comments Regarding Social Change (Excursus)	186
1.5.2 Distribution of the Population	189
1.5.3 Building Land and Rentals	192
1.5.4 Segregation According to Incomes and Nationalities	197
1.6 Capital City or Capital Area?	220
2. The Palace Town – The Palace Quarter: Muscat?	223
2.1 Architectural Situation, Functional Differentiation (1970)	223
2.1.1 First Impression	224
2.1.2 Building Stock	226
2.1.3 Functions	232
2.2 Planning Ideas and Development Goals	233
2.2.1 General Objectives	233
2.2.2 Actual Plans and Planned Land Use	236
2.3 Changes and Redevelopment (1982)	241

2.3.1 Planning and Reality	242
2.3.2 Palace and Inner Town	250
2.3.3 Souq	255
2.4 End of a Town?	271
3. The Shopping Town – The Shopping Quarter: Matrah?	273
3.1 Brief Review	273
3.2 Layout of the Town	277
3.2.1. Structural Condition (1968/1970)	278
3.2.2 Land Use Zoning (1974)	282
3.2.3 Port Expansion	284
3.3 Commercial Districts: Structure and Change	290
3.3.1 Traditional souq	291
3.3.2 New Shopping Streets	339
3.4 Planning and Prospects	348
4. The Functional Centre of the Capital Area: Ruwi?	351
4.1 Plan for a Single New Town	351
4.1.1 Initial Situation	352
4.1.2. Planning Concept	353
4.2 Development and Result (1982)	358
4.2.1 Spatial Extent	358
4.2.2 Functional-Spatial Differentiation	362
4.3. Future Role?	390
5. Further Consideration	391
PART THREE	395
Other Towns	397
1. The Settlements of Inner Oman	399
2. The Capital Area and the Other Towns	403
2.1 Constraints and Measures Taken	403
2.2 Changes and Late Planning	406
2.2.1 Settlement Expansion	406
2.2.2 Planning Intentions	408
2.2.3 Economic Activities	414
3. The Old souqs, the New Markets	419
3.1. Traditional souqs in the Oases	419

3.1.1 Architectural Development	421
3.1.2 Range of Goods on Sale	426
3.2 New Roadside Markets	441
3.2.1 Distribution and Locational Factors	442
3.2.2 Temporary Arrangements or Permanent Facility?	443
4 The Other Capital: Nizwa	451
4.1 Position and Function	452
4.2 Market Town – A Regional Centre?	454
4.2.1 Architectural Layout and New Developments	455
4.2.2 Sectoral Diversity and Spatial Differentiation	456
4.3 Provinciality as a Structural Characteristic	460
5. A Justified Conclusion	463
PART FOUR	465
Muscat and Oman since the 1980s – A Brief Overview	467
1. The Capital	469
2. The Hinterland	477
3. Urbanisation and Society	485
4. Final Remark	489
APPENDICES	491
BIBLIOGRAPHY	513
PHOTOGRAPHY	543
(except Photo 1: p. xvii; Photo 2: p. 41; Photos 3–7: pp. 109–113; Photos 8–9: p. 116)	