Contents

Introduction 9

Formation of teacher's professional identity within the professional and local community frameworks 13

General characteristics of professional identity formation 15

The identity circles 18

Elements of crisis in the professional identity 23

Two characteristics of teacher's professional identity formation 25

Anticipated professional socialization of teachers 26

Teacher's double competency 29

Integrative aspects of career development 35

A teacher's attitude towards the development of own professional path 37

The concept of career development 39

The opinions and viewpoints of Slovene teachers about professional excellency which they need 40

The burnout of teachers 43

The role of a headmaster in the development of a teacher's career 45

Teachers' competencies and the role of in-service training in their development 48

Bibliografische Informationen
http://d-nb.info/1059312093

digitalisiert durch DEUTSCHE NATIONAL BIBLIOTHEK

School as a learning community and teacher as a learning individual 53

School as learning community 55

Teachers' professional development 61

Peer learning and teacher's professional development 67

Possibilities and conditions for learning of teachers 68

Mentoring in the process of teacher professional development and teacher peer-learning 74

Reverse mentoring 82

Intergeneration learning and intergeneration cooperation among teachers 84

Opinions of teachers before they start teaching 87

Methodological viewpoints and the researched samples 89

Teachers' quality education guarantees high quality professional development 93

The career expectations of teachers before they started teaching 98

Usefulness of new knowledge and experience within professional environment 101

Professional fulfilment in the role of a teacher 103

Being gifted for teaching? 108

The image of an ideal teacher 110

What should be the characteristics of quality training programme of future teachers 114

The participants' most favourite ways of working in the trainings 117

Practical training during education 119

Key competencies for teaching 121

The attitudes of the participants of the "program for pedagogical and andragogicai qualifications" (PAE) and of the students of study programmes for teachers towards key competencies for teaching 121

The correlation between PAE participants and students 133

Opinions of experts and experienced practitioners about teachers' education and training: analysis of the focus group discussion results 137

Interdependence of education and training and the formation of teachers' professional identity 141

Basic (pre-service) education and training 142

Further (in service) teachers' training and professional development 151

Intergenerational learning 158

The role of principals 163

Formation of teachers' professional identity 165

Conclusion: key findings based on the focus group discussion 175

References 179

Index 189