

Contents

Introduction	I
Nina Berman, Klaus Mühlhahn, and Patrice Nganang

Part 1. Interactions

Architecture with a Mission: Bamum Autoethnography during the Period of German Colonialism	31
Itohan I. Osayimwese

“The Germans cannot master our language!” or German Colonial Rulers and the Beti in the Cameroonian Hinterlands	50
Germain Nyada (Translated by Amber Suggitt)

Sex and Control in Germany’s Overseas Possessions: Venereal Disease and Indigenous Agency	71
Daniel J. Walther

Ruga-ruga : The History of an African Profession, 1820–1918	85
Michael Pesek

Bomani : African Soldiers as Colonial Intermediaries in German East Africa, 1890–1914	101
Michelle Moyd

Pioneers of Empire? The Making of Sisal Plantations in German East Africa, 1890–1917	114
Hanan Sabea

“Zake: The Papuan Chief”: An Alliance with a German Missionary in Colonial Kaiser-Wilhelmsland (Oceania)	130
Gabriele Richter

Part 2. Resistance, Anti-colonial Activism, and the Rise of Nationalist Discourses

Germany and the Chinese Coolie: Labor, Resistance, and the Struggle for Equality, 1884–1914	147
Andreas Steen

The Other German Colonialism: Power, Conflict, and Resistance in a German-speaking Mission in China, ca. 1850–1920 Thoralf Klein	161
Nationalism and Pragmatism: The Revolutionists in German Qingdao (1897–1914) Jianjun Zhu	179
Anti-colonial Nationalism and Cosmopolitan “Standard Time”: Lala Har Dayal’s Forty Four Months in Germany and Turkey (1920) B. Venkat Mani	195
Acting Cannibal: Intersecting Strategies, Conflicting Interests, and the Ambiguities of Cultural Resistance in Iringa, German East Africa Eva Bischoff	212
The “Truppenspieler Show”: Herero Masculinity and the German Colonial Military Aesthetic Molly McCullers	226
Part 3. Remembering and Rethinking
Recollection and Intervention: Memory of German Colonialism in Contemporary African Migrants’ Writing Dirk Göttsche	245
The Shadows of History: Photography and Colonialism in William Kentridge’s Black Box/Chambre Noire Andrew J. Hennlich	259
Germans and the Death-Throes of the Qing: Mo Yan’s The Sandalwood Torture Yixu Lü	271
The Origins of German Minority Cinema in Colonial Film Patrice Nganang	284
Bibliography	299
Contributors	333
Index	339