Research Outline

1. General Introduction and Research Objectives

1.1. Introduction	2
1.2. Research Objectives	3
1.3. Subjects and Methods	4
1.4. Study Area and Informant Falconers	5
1.5. Thesis Outline and Hypotheses	6
1.6. References	8

Part I. Ancient History of Asian Falconry

2. Earliest Representation of Human and Raptor Interaction: North and Central Asia

2.1. Introduction	12
2.1.1. Potential Birth Places of Ancient Falconry	12
2.1.2. Materials and Methods	13
2.2. Earliest Representations of Birds of Prey from 3,000 B.C.	14
2.2.1. The Hunting Scene of Raptors in the Northern Altai Mountains	14
2.2.2. Motif of Raptor Predatory in Scythian Metalwork	16
2.3. The Image of Horse-Riding Falconers: from the 3rd Century B.C. to the 8th Century	17
2.3.1. Ancient Northern China	17
2.3.1. Tien-Shan Mountains (in Eastern Kyrgyz)	18
2.4. Discussion	20
2.4.1. Observations in Nature and Avifauna by Ancient Pastoralists	20
2.4.2. The Classical Manner of Asian Falconry	21
2.4.3. Socio-Ecological Functions of Ancient Falconry	22
2.5. Conclusions: Ancient Clues for Sustaining Falconry for the Future	22
2.6. References	24

3. Falconer Figures in Ancient East Asia: China and Japan

3.1. Introduction	27
3.1.1. Falconry and its Eurasian-Wide Adaptability	27
3.1.2. Materials and Methods	27
3.2. Ancient China: Falconry Representations in the Later Han Dynasty	28
3.3. Ancient Japan: Falconer Figurines in the Kofun Period	31
3.4. Discussion	32
3.4.1. Comparison with Eagle Falconry in Kyrgyz and Altaic Kazakhs	32
3.4.2. Reintroduction to "the Sedentary Falconry"	34
3.5. Conclusions	37
3.6. References	39

Part II. Ethnographic Narrative of Altaic Kazakh Falconry

4. Traditional Art and Knowledge of Eagle-Taming Process

4.1. Introduction: Altaic Kazakh Falconry in Action	42
4.2. Materials and Methods.....	45
4.2.1. Methodology	45
4.2.2. Terminology	46
4.3. Study Area	47
4.3.1. Bayan Ulgii Province.....	47
4.3.2. Buteu Winter Pasture, Sagsai County	48
4.3.3. Sagsai Eagle Falconers in Present Times	50
4.4. Result I: Ethno-Ornithology - the Indigenous Recognition of Golden Eagle	51
4.4.1. The Golden Eagle of the Altai Mountains	51
4.4.2. Capture of Eaglets: Cases in Sagsai County.....	54
4.4.3. Trapping of Juvenile or Adult Eagles: A Case in Tolbo County	57
4.4.4. Trapping of Juvenile or Adult Falcon or Hawk: A Case in the Issyk-Kul Province.....	59
4.4.5. Indigenous Expressions for Golden Eagle's Age, Sex, and Body.....	62
4.5. Result II: Rapport-Making between the Master and the Golden Eagle	64
4.5.1. Golden Eagle becoming hunting bird at the Human Sphere (in summer case).....	64
4.5.2. Feeding Tasks.....	67
4.5.4. Training Stage	72
4.6. Result III: Falconry Equipment and Taming Characteristics.....	76
4.6.1. Indigenous Reclaiming Style and Material Culture	76
4.6.2. Basic Gears for Falconry Practice	76
4.6.3. Items for Settling Practice.....	84
4.6.4. Items for Feeding Practice.....	85
4.6.5. Items for Training Practice.....	90
4.7. Discussion: Comparative Analysis of Taming, Reclaiming, and Rapport-Making.....	91
4.7.1. Comparable Features in Reclaiming/ Taming Procedures.....	91
4.7.2. Reclaiming Features not Common in Altaic Kazakhs	96
4.7.3. Some Interpretations of Local Falconry Equipment.....	97
4.7.4. Wide Range Accessibility for Eagle Falconry	98
4.8. References.....	101

5. Eagle Falconers in Hunting Operation:

Contemporary Operations of Horse Riding Falconry and its Decline

5.1. Introduction: Decline of Hunting Operation in Current Falconry.....	105
5.2. Subjects and Methods	106
5.3. Results.....	107
5.3.1. The Hunting Field: Agjal Mountains in Sagsai County	107
5.3.2. Hunting Days and their Duration.....	109
5.3.3. Hunting Routes and Points	110
5.3.4. Cooperation with Beaters in Hunting Operation	113
5.3.5. Contemporary Hunting Style with Diversity	115
5.4. Discussion: For Sustainable Hunting from Contemporary Perspectives.....	118
5.4.1. Rethinking of the Productivity and Entertainment of Eagle Falconry.....	118
5.4.2. Hunting Horses for Falconry	120
5.4.3. Fox Hunting for Ethnic Significance.....	120
5.5. Conclusions	123
5.6. References.....	125

Part III. Cultural Sustainability of Eagle Falconry

6. Socio-Cultural Actions geared towards Sustainability

Heritage Tourism & Cultural Alterations in Altaic Kazakh Falconry

6.1. Introduction	128
6.1.1. Recent Reconstruction of Altaic Kazakh Community	128
6.1.2. Subject & Methods	130
6.1.3. "The Golden Eagle Festival" as an Axis of Cultural Alteration	130
6.2. Result I: The Golden Eagle Festival and its Extensive Development	131
6.2.1. The Ulgi Festival	131
6.2.2. The Sagsai Festival	132
6.3. Result II: Ambivalence Festival Impacts on Falconry and Falconers	133
6.3.1. Demonstrative Falconry for Tourists: The Sagsai and Altai Case	133
6.3.2. Falconers without the Festival Impacts: The Tolbo Case	136
6.4. Discussion: Current Issues for the Golden Eagle Festival	138
6.5. Conclusions: The Festivals as a Local Resilience for Cultural Sustainability	139
6.6. References	143

7. Social-Ecological Basis for Sustainability

Transhumant Animal Herding Livelihood for Eagle-Ownership Facilitation

7.1. Introduction: Social/ Natural Requirements of Eagle Falconry	145
7.2. Socio-Ecological Conditions for Eagle Ownership Facilitation	145
7.2.1. Alleviation of Feeding Diet with Sheep/Goat Reproduction	145
7.2.2. Analysis in Social Inheritance System "Ultimogeniture": Maldistribution of Wealth	148
7.2.3. Interaction between Transhumance and Eagle Falconry	149
7.2.4. Indirect Cooperation for Substantial Sustainability in Livestock Reproduction	151
7.3. Natural Resource and Environmental Basis for Sustainability	153
7.3.1. Eagle Traffics and Oblivion of "The Capture and Release Custom"	153
7.3.2. Hunting and Nesting Environment for Golden Eagle Propagation	156
7.4. Conclusions: Falconry as a Discourse between Human and Nature	158
7.5. Reference	162

8. Conclusions on the Future Sustainability of Altaic Kazakh Falconry

Falconry as a Gift of Human-Raptor Harmony

8.1. Introduction: Safeguarding Falconry Culture with Local Resilience	166
8.2. Insights gained from Chapter I: Ancient History of Asian Falconry	167
8.3. Insights gained from Chapter II: Ethnographic Narrative of Altaic Kazakh Falconry	169
8.4. Insights gained from Chapter III: Cultural Sustainability of Eagle Falconry	170
8.5. Further Hypotheses: Positive Correlation by Human Intervention	172
8.6. Final Remarks	174
8.7. References	176
