1 Basic Principles	3	Local Palpation—Anterolateral	40
Why Do Clinicians Need Surface Anatomy?	3	Study Questions	50
What Is Understood by Surface Anatomy in this Book?	3
Where Can Surface Anatomy Be Used?	3
Components in the Assessment of a Joint or Section of the Spine	3
Orientation Before the Application of Special Assessment and Treatment Techniques	4
Basis for the Local Treatment of Tendons, Bursae, etc.	4
Clinical Relevance	4
Characteristics of Palpation	4
When Is Surface Anatomy Applied?	5
Prerequisites	5
Anatomical/Topographical Background	5
Precise Palpation as a Process	5
Experience	6
Palpation Techniques and Resistances	6
Central Aspects of the Procedure	6
Pressure Applied during Palpation	6
Palpatory Techniques	7
Palpating Bony Edges	7
Palpating Bony Prominences	8
Palpating Muscle Bellies	8
Palpating the Edge of Muscles	9
Palpating Tendons	9
Palpating Ligaments	10
Palpating Capsules	11
Palpating Bursae	11
Palpating Peripheral Nerves	12
Palpating Blood Vessels (Arteries)	12
Palpation Aids	13
Guiding Structures	13
Connecting Lines	13
Supporting Measures for Confirming a Palpation	13
Marking Structures	14
Starting Positions for Practice (Practice SPs)	14
Study Questions	15
2 Shoulder Complex	19
Significance and Function of the Shoulder Region ..	19
Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	19
Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	20
General Orientation—Posterior	22
Local Palpation—Posterior	24
Local Palpation—Lateral	31
General Orientation—Anterior	37
Local Palpation—Anteromedial	38
		3 Elbow Complex	53
		Significance and Function of the Elbow Complex	53
		Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	53
		Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	53
		General Orientation—Anterior	57
		Local Palpation—Anterior	57
		Local Palpation—Medial	61
		Local Palpation—Lateral	67
		General Orientation—Posterior Humerus	74
		Study Questions	76
		4 Hand	79
		Significance and Function of the Hand	79
		Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	80
		Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	81
		General Orientation—Dorsal	85
		Local Palpation of the Dorsal Soft Tissues	89
		Local Palpation of the Dorsal Aspect of the Carpal Bones	93
		General Orientation—Palmar	99
		Local Palpation of the Palmar Soft Tissues	100
		Local Palpation of the Palmar Aspect of the Carpal Bones	103
		Study Questions	110
		5 Hip and Groin Region	113
		Significance and Function of the Hip and Groin Region	113
		Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	113
		Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	113
		Local Palpation—Lateral	118
		Local Palpation—Dorsal	120
		Local Palpation—Anterior	122
		Study Questions	131
		6 Knee Joint	135
		Significance and Function of the Knee Joint	135
		Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	136
		Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	136

Palpating an Increase in Temperature	140	Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	263
Palpating Edema	141	Summary of the Palpatory Process	278
Local Palpation—Anterior	142	Starting Position	278
Local Palpation—Medial	147	Difficult and Alternative Starting Positions	279
Local Palpation of the Anteromedial Soft Tissues ..	149	Palpation Techniques	279
Local Palpation—Lateral	155	Tips for Assessment and Treatment	284
Local Palpation—Posterior	162	Study Questions	289
Study Questions	165
7 Foot	169	11 Thoracic Spine and Thoracic Cage	293
Significance and Function of the Foot	169	Significance and Function of the Thoracic Region	293
Common Applications for Treatment in this Region.	171	Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	294
Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	172	Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	295
Local Palpation of the Medial Border of the Foot ...	174	Summary of the Palpatory Process	304
Local Palpation of the Lateral Border of the Foot ...	183	Starting Position	304
Local Palpation of the Dorsum of the Foot	191	Difficult and Alternative Starting Positions	304
Local Palpation of the Distal Posterior Leg	196	Posterior Palpation Techniques	304
Study Questions	199	Anterior Palpation Techniques	322
		Study Questions	333
8 Soft Tissues	203	12 Cervical Spine	337
Significance and Function of Soft Tissues	203	Significance and Function of the Cervical Spine	337
Common Applications for Treatment in this Region.	203	Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	337
Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	203	Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	338
Summary of the Palpatory Process	204	Summary of the Palpatory Process	352
Starting Position	206	Starting Position	352
Difficult and Alternative Starting Positions	206	Difficult and Alternative Starting Positions	354
Palpation Techniques	207	Posterior Palpation Techniques	354
Tips for Assessment and Treatment	211	Lateral Palpation Techniques	370
Examples of Treatment	213	Anterior Palpation Techniques	381
Study Questions	219	Study Questions	386
9 Posterior Pelvis	223	13 Head and Jaw	389
Significance and Function of the Pelvic Region	223	Introduction	389
Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	223	Significance and Function of the Temporomandibular Joint	389
Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	225	Common Applications for Treatment in this Region	389
Summary of the Palpatory Process	233	Required Basic Anatomical and Biomechanical Knowledge	389
Palpatory Techniques for Quick Orientation on the Bones	234	Anatomy of the Bony Skull	390
Palpatory Procedure for Quick Orientation on the Muscles	237	Palpation of the Bony Skull	390
Local Palpation Techniques	241	The Jaw—Temporomandibular Joints	391
Orienting Projections	249	Palpating the Temporomandibular Joints	394
Local Palpation of the Pelvic-Trochanter Region ...	253	Palpatory Examination of the Jaw Muscles	395
Tips for Assessment and Treatment	257	Study Questions	405
