

Contents

Preface	ix
WENDY EVERHAM
Part One: Essays
Reinterpreting Historical Evidence: The Existence of Numerous Menominee Villages at the Time of Earliest European Contact	3
DAVID R. M. BECK
Finding a New Home: Hungarian Emigrés in Scotland	15
EVA BECSEI-KILBORN
African Newcomers in Chicago: The Struggle for Permanence Versus the Desire to Return	41
ADRIAN CAPEHART
Wandering Jews: Peddlers, Immigrants, and the Discovery of "New Worlds"	51
HASIA DINER
The Gaelic American and the Shaping of Irish-American Opinion, 1903–1914	63
MICHAEL DOORLEY
Justice in Mental Health: A Better Foundation for the Expansion of Peer Support	73
SEAN HARRIS AND BECCA SANDERS

Pioneers and Native Peoples: The Discrepancy between Historical Scholarship and Its Popular Presentation in the United States and Switzerland	85
MANUEL MENRATH
"Pane et Lavoro": Agrarian Strikes of Women Straw Workers in Tuscan Contado, 1896–1897	105
MARION S. MILLER
Losing Clout: Nancy Kaszak Versus Rahm Emanuel and the Decline of Polish American Politics in Chicago	119
DOMINIC A. PACYGA
Philip Schaff, Marginal Men and Academic Freedom	131
GARY K. PRANGER
Different but Equally Ingenious: Benjamin Lee Whorf (1897–1941), a Pioneer in Understanding the Equivalence of the Western and the North American Indian Mind	141
LEO SCHELBERT
Part Two: Assessments
History Seen Through Multiple Lenses: Leo Schelbert and the Swiss American Historical Society	163
MARIANNE BURKHARD
The Battle against Forgetting	167
SUSANN BOSSHARD-KÄLIN
A Scholar's Journey to the Open: An Appreciation	169
WENDY EVERHAM
Curriculum Vitae and Publications of Leo Schelbert	191
Contributors	211
Index of Personal Names	215
Index of Ethnic and National Names	219
Index of Geographic Names	221