

Contents

Getting Oriented — VII

1	Liar's Lookout — 1
1.1	Preliminaries: Our First Stop — 1
1.2	A Scenic (but "Risky") View — 2
1.3	Disarming the Bandit — 6
1.4	Cassationism: Where We Meet Some Fellow Travelers — 11
2	Ryle's Way With the Liar by Fred Sommers — 15
2.1	Anaphoric Conditions for Successful Comment — 15
2.2	The Ryle Approach — 17
2.3	The "Official" View — 18
2.4	Risky Business — 19
2.5	Where the Risk Really Lies — 21
2.6	Nesting Propositions — 22
2.7	Propositional Depth — 23
2.8	The Structure of Comments — 23
2.9	The Requirement of Determinate Depth — 25
2.10	Depth and the Anaphoric Background — 26
2.11	Comments on Sentences — 27
2.12	Summarizing Conclusion — 30
3	The Logic Mountain Range — 33
3.1	The Negativity Scene — 33
3.2	Aristotle's Peak — 37
3.3	Predication Without Copulation? — 49
4	On the Term Functor Trail — 55
4.1	Charging Up the Hill — 55
4.2	A Better View — 70
4.3	Deriver's License Required — 74
4.4	Down the Hill Without a Variable — 78

5	The Four Corners — 81
5.1	Around the Square — 81
5.2	Is Something There? — 87
5.3	We Could be Lost — 89
5.4	Nonsense! — 89
5.5	The Hexagonal Square — 90
5.6	Squaring the Square — 91
5.7	The Punch Line — 94
5.8	Truth or Dare — 95
5.9	Proposition Opposition — 97
6	Referential Falls — 99
6.1	Into the Semantic Forest — 99
6.2	The Curious Case of the Singular Team — 111
6.3	Not, Else, But, Other Than, Except — 119
7	Strawberry Fields — 121
7.1	Naked Denotation — 121
7.2	Peter, Paul and Mary, the Beatles, and Other Roadside Attractions — 125
7.3	Where We Get Together — 127
8	Into the Metaphysical Bogs — 133
8.1	Ontology In ... Ontology Out — 133
8.2	What Were We Thinking? — 139

9	Ratiocination: An Empirical Account by Fred Sommers — 147
9.1	Introduction — 147
9.2	Unnatural Argumentation — 148
9.3	Why the General Inattention to Natural Argumentation — 151
9.4	How We Do It — 154
9.4.1	The charged character of the natural formatives — 155
9.4.2	What This Suggests About Our Cognitive Development — 157
9.5	Pace Frege and Pace Chomsky — 158
9.6	The Virtues of Term Functor Logic — 159
9.7	An Anticipated Confirmation — 160
9.7.1	Regimentation in TFL — 160
9.7.2	Inferences from two or more premises — 161
9.7.3	The colt/horse inference — 162
9.8	Conclusion: Learning about Logic by Attending to Ratiocination — 163
10	Back to Logic Lodge, Base Camp — 165
	References — 167
	Index — 175