

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction GABRIELE GAVA AND ROBERT STERN	1
1 German Idealism, Classical Pragmatism, and Kant's Third Critique SEBASTIAN GARDNER	22
2 The Fallibilism of Kant's Architectonic GABRIELE GAVA	46
3 A Kant-Inspired Vision of Pragmatism as Democratic Experimentalism DAVID MACARTHUR	67
4 Peirce, Kant, and What We Must Assume CHERYL MISAK	85
5 Peirce and the Final Opinion: Against Apel's Transcendental Interpretation of the Categories DANIEL HERBERT	94
6 Forms of Reasoning as Conditions of Possibility: Peirce's Transcendental Inquiry Concerning Inductive Knowledge JEAN-MARIE CHEVALIER	114
7 Kant and Peirce on Belief MARCUS WILLASCHEK	133

8	Round Kant or Through Him? On James's Arguments for Freedom, and Their Relation to Kant's	152
	ROBERT STERN
9	Consciousness in Kant and William James	177
	GRAHAM BIRD
10	Concepts of Objects as Prescribing Laws: A Kantian and Pragmatist Line of Thought	196
	JAMES R. O'SHEA
11	Subjectivity as Negativity and as a Limit: On the Metaphysics and Ethics of the Transcendental Self, Pragmatically Naturalized	217
	SAMI PIHLSTRÖM
12	A Plea for Transcendental Philosophy	239
	WOLFGANG KUHLMANN
13	Transcendental Arguments, Epistemically Constrained Truth, and Moral Discourse	259
	BORIS RÄHME
	Contributors	287
	Index	291