

Contents

Method of citation and list of abbreviations — XIII

Introduction — 1

- 1 The Typic chapter in the Critique of Practical Reason — 1
- 2 Need for the present study — 3
- 2.1 Obscurity of the primary text — 3
- 2.2 Conflicting interpretations in the secondary literature — 4
- 3 Goals of the present study — 6
- 4 Approach and methodology — 7
- 4.1 General approach — 7
- 4.2 Specific methodology — 9
- 4.3 On the selection of texts — 11
- 5 Overview — 12
- 5.1 Part One. Commentary — 12
- 5.2 Part Two. The typic's place in Kant's theory of symbolic representation — 15

Commentary

Chapter 1. The task — 19

- 1.1 Objects of pure practical reason and the concepts of good and evil — 19
- 1.2 Moral appraisal — 22

Chapter 2. The 'particular difficulties' — 27

- 2.1 Construals of the problem in the secondary literature — 28
  - 2.1.1 Natural necessity vs. freedom — 28
  - 2.1.2 Is vs. ought — 32
  - 2.1.3 Concrete vs. abstract — 34
  - 2.1.4 Matter vs. form — 35
  - 2.1.5 Subjective ends vs. objective ends — 36
- 2.2 The representational mismatch: sensible intuitions vs. supersensible Ideas — 37
  - 2.2.1 From 'the very same difficulties' as theoretical judgment to the 'particular difficulties' of practical judgment — 37

- 2.2.2 Reason and finitude — 38
- 2.2.3 Sensible intuitions vs. supersensible Ideas — 42

Chapter 3. The resources — 45

- 3.1 The schematism and the imagination — 45
  - 3.1.1 Nature and function — 45
  - 3.1.2 Two problems with the schematism — 46
- 3.2 The ‘schema of a law itself’ — 50
- 3.3 The law of nature and the understanding — 53

Chapter 4. The solution — 59

- 4.1 Overcoming the ‘particular difficulties’ — 59
  - 4.1.1 Type<sub>1</sub>: the law of nature as the ‘type’ of the moral law — 59
  - 4.1.2 Type<sub>2</sub>: Natura formaliter spectata as the type of supersensible nature — 63
- 4.2 Accomplishing the task — 75
  - 4.2.1 The typic-procedure — 75
  - 4.2.2 The typic-procedure’s place in Kant’s ethics — 89
  - 4.2.3 The typic-procedure in the secondary literature — 96

Chapter 5. The outcome and effectiveness — 117

- 5.1 The Typic’s heuristic effectiveness for the ‘common understanding’ — 117
  - 5.1.1 The common understanding’s moral discernment — 117
  - 5.1.2 An ‘example in a case of experience’ — 119
  - 5.1.3 Isolation and amplification — 124
- 5.2 The typic’s protective functions — 125
  - 5.2.1 Guarding against empiricism — 126
  - 5.2.2 Type<sub>3</sub> — 130
  - 5.2.3 Guarding against mysticism — 131

The Typic’s Place in Kant’s Theory of Symbolic Representation

Chapter 6. The typic and symbolic hypotyposis — 140

- 6.1 The symbolist interpretation of the Typic chapter — 140
  - 6.1.1 The task — 140
  - 6.1.2 The ‘particular difficulties’ — 142
  - 6.1.3 The resources — 143
  - 6.1.4 The solution — 144

- 6.1.5 The outcome and effectiveness — 147
- 6.2 Critical assessment of the symbolist interpretation — 148
- 6.2.1 The task — 148
- 6.2.2 The ‘particular difficulties’ — 151
- 6.2.3 The resources — 152
- 6.2.4 The solution — 152
- 6.2.5 The outcome and effectiveness — 168
- 6.3 Against aestheticizing the Typic — 170
- 6.3.1 Two agendas — 170
- 6.3.2 Betting on the wrong horse — 173
- 6.4 Conclusion — 179

Chapter 7. The typic and symbolic anthropomorphism — 180

- 7.1 ‘Symbolic anthropomorphism’ in the Prolegomena — 181
- 7.1.1 Merely symbolic, as opposed to absolute — 182
- 7.1.2 Analogical — 185
- 7.1.3 Non-sensible — 189
- 7.1.4 Permitted and required — 191
- 7.1.5 Sufficient — 191
- 7.1.6 Protective — 193
- 7.2 Symbolic anthropomorphism and Aquinas’ doctrine of analogical predication — 195
- 7.3 Symbolic anthropomorphism and symbolic hypotyposis — 198
- 7.4 Symbolic anthropomorphism and the typic — 203
- 7.4.1 Merely symbolic, as opposed to absolute — 203
- 7.4.2 Analogical — 204
- 7.4.3 Non-sensible — 209
- 7.4.4 Permitted and required — 209
- 7.4.5 Sufficient — 211
- 7.4.6 Protective — 211
- 7.5 Conclusion — 213

Conclusion — 215

- 1 Summary of Part One — 215
- 2 Summary of Part Two — 221
- 3 The Typic in the evolution of Kant’s thought — 228
- 3.1 Symbolic representation — 228
- 3.2 The relation between nature and morality — 231

Works Cited — 237

Primary sources — 237

Immanuel Kant's works in German — 237

Secondary sources — 238

Appendices

Appendix I : German text of the Typic chapter — 251

Appendix II: English translation of the Typic chapter — 255

Index of names — 259

Subject index — 260