

Contents

Introduction	1
1 Setting the Research Agenda	1
2 Time Frame	6
3 Historiography of the German-Italian Economic Relationship	9
4 Notes on Basic Concepts and Methodology	24
5 Structure and Empirical Basis	33
 Chapter 1: Prologue – Framing the German-Italian Economic Relationship	41
1 From the Late Nineteenth Century to the 1920s	41
2 The Impact of the World Economic Crisis	50
3 Institutional Change in Foreign Trade	64
 Part I: Becoming Partners? Bilateral Economic Rapprochement 1929–1936	73
 Chapter 2: Failing Attempts in the Reconstruction after the Crash	75
Introduction: The Situation in 1929	75
1 New Initiatives after the End of the “Battaglia per la Economia”	78
2 Attempt No 1: The Spiral of Protectionism	82
3 Attempt No 2: Political Rhetoric without Action	88
4 Attempt No 3: “Foreign Exchange War”	92
 Chapter 3: Political Will and Economic Realities after the Nazi Seizure of Power ...	105
Introduction: Institutions of the Economic Relationship before and after 1933	105
1 Brothers in Mind Down to Business?	106
2 Conflict over Artificial Fibres	117

3	A New Nazi Foreign Economic Policy	123
4	The Clearing Agreement of 1934	131
Chapter 4: Continuing Conflicts and New Collaboration		135
Introduction: From Hitler's Seizure of Power to the Commercial "Axis"		135
1	Evolving Institutions in the Commercial Sphere	136
2	Industrial Co-operation	145
3	Changing Trade and the Devaluation of the Lira in 1936	152
Conclusion Part I: The Economic Foundations of the "Rome-Berlin Axis"		161
 Part II: Ambivalent Co-Ordination at the International Stage
1929–1933		167
 Chapter 5: The International Implications of the German-Italian Economic Relationship		169
Introduction: The Big Picture		169
1	Towards Regionalism	170
2	Crisis and Opportunities in Southeastern Europe	178
3	The League of Nations' Search for Economic Relief	186
 Chapter 6: Political Revisionism and International Economic Rescue		193
Introduction: Towards International Collaboration		193
1	Intensifying Contact at the International Organisation	194
2	Customs Unions – A Political Response to Economic Crisis	203
3	Second Effort: Commercial Preferences	211
 Chapter 7: From International Co-Ordination to Confrontational Bilateralism		223
Introduction: Circumventing International Opposition		223
1	A Common Stance at the International Economic Conferences?	224
2	Hiding from International Responsibility	233
3	Hidden Preferences: The Brocchi Contracts	242
 Conclusion Part II: The Triumph of Bilateralism		251

Part III: The Quest for New Markets 1933–1936 255

Chapter 8: Hinterland/Retroterra – Entangled Economic Expansion in Southeastern Europe 257

Introduction: Economic Expansion after 1933 257

- 1 Transfer of Commercial Policy 258
- 2 Connecting Southeastern Europe with the World – Hamburg/Bremen vs. Trieste 265
- 3 Institutional Competition in Fascist Italy's Best Market: Yugoslavia 278
- 4 Collaboration among Equals or Subordination? 287

Chapter 9: Beyond Europe – Co-operation and Rivalries in the Mare Nostrum 297

Introduction: Separated Spaces? 297

- 1 Joint Manoeuvres in Turkey 304
- 2 Egypt – Commercial Expansion on Ideological Tailwind? 313
- 3 Italy's Multiple Replacement through Nazi Germany's Trade with Palestine 320
- 4 Iraq's oil 325

Conclusion and Outlook 335

Appendix 349

Sources 351

Literature 355

Major Actors 377

List of Abbreviations 383