

Contents

|          |                                                                                                                        |           |
|----------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1 | Introduction                                                                                                    | 1  |
| 2 | Solid Waste Conversion and Dynamic Multi-objective Optimization                                                 | 3  |
| 2.1      | Overview                                                                                                               | 3         |
| 2.2      | Law of Solid Waste Conversion and the Environmental Effects                                                            | 4         |
| 2.2.1    | Humification of Organic Waste                                                                                          | 4         |
| 2.2.2    | Anaerobic Digestion of Organic Waste                                                                                   | 10        |
| 2.2.3    | Solid Waste Landfill                                                                                                   | 15        |
| 2.3      | Technical Methods for Dynamic Multi-objective Optimization of Solid Waste Management                                   | 20        |
| 2.3.1    | Construction of the Model for Dynamic Multi-objective Optimization Under Uncertainty                                   | 21        |
| 2.3.2    | Model for Dynamic Multi-objective Optimization Under Uncertainty                                                       | 23        |
|          | References                                                                                                             | 31        |
| 3 | Classified Resourcization of Solid Waste and Process-Wide Control of Secondary Pollution                        | 33 |
| 3.1      | Overview                                                                                                               | 33        |
| 3.2      | Technologies for Classified Solid Waste Collection and Transportation, Biological Pretreatment, and Mechanical Sorting | 34        |
| 3.2.1    | Precompression                                                                                                         | 34        |
| 3.2.2    | Biological Pretreatment and Mechanical Sorting                                                                         | 35        |
| 3.3      | Technologies for Classified Utilization of Solid Waste                                                                 | 38        |
| 3.3.1    | Biofortification Composting                                                                                            | 38        |
| 3.3.2    | Efficient Anaerobic Digestion                                                                                          | 39        |
| 3.3.3    | Pyrolysis and Gasification                                                                                             | 41        |

|          |                                                                                                                                         |            |
|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 3.4      | Technologies for the Control of Secondary Pollution . . . . .                                                                           | 42         |
| 3.4.1    | In Situ Reduction of Landfill Leachate . . . . .                                                                                        | 42         |
| 3.4.2    | Malodorous Gas Generation and Treatment. . . . .                                                                                        | 44         |
| 3.4.3    | Biogas Residue Production and Resourcization . . . . .                                                                                  | 46         |
| 3.5      | Technologies for Integrated Solid Waste Treatment andManagement System Optimization . . . . .                                       | 46         |
|          | References . . . . .                                                                                                                    | 50         |
| 4 | Solid Waste Disposal and Synergetic Pollution Control . . . . .                                                                  | 53  |
| 4.1      | Bioreactor Landfill and Synergetic Pollution Control . . . . .                                                                          | 53         |
| 4.1.1    | Organic Matter Reduction Dynamics and StabilizationTechnologies . . . . .                                                           | 54         |
| 4.1.2    | Nitrogen Conversion Process and In Situ RemovalOptimization Mechanism . . . . .                                                     | 59         |
| 4.1.3    | Interaction of Pollutants in the Leachate andDiscontinuous Permeable Reactive Barrier (PRB) . . . . .                               | 59         |
| 4.1.4    | Engineering Applications for Rapid Stabilizationof Bioreactor Landfill and Collaborative Controlof Secondary Pollution. . . . . | 61         |
| 4.2      | Hazardous Waste Treatment and Synergetic Cement KilnTreatment . . . . .                                                             | 62         |
| 4.2.1    | Treatment and Disposal of Typical Hazardous Waste. . . . .                                                                              | 62         |
| 4.2.2    | Synergetic Hazardous Waste Treatmentin Cement Kiln . . . . .                                                                        | 72         |
|          | References . . . . .                                                                                                                    | 73         |
| 5 | Groundwater Pollution and Its Risk in Solid WasteDisposal Site . . . . .                                                    | 75  |
| 5.1      | Groundwater Pollution in Solid Waste Disposal Site . . . . .                                                                            | 75         |
| 5.1.1    | Household Waste Landfill Site . . . . .                                                                                                 | 75         |
| 5.1.2    | Hazardous Waste Landfill Site . . . . .                                                                                                 | 79         |
| 5.2      | Survey of the Groundwater Pollution in Solid Waste DisposalSite . . . . .                                                           | 86         |
| 5.2.1    | Survey Content and Procedures. . . . .                                                                                                  | 86         |
| 5.2.2    | Layout of Groundwater Monitoring Wellsand Sampling . . . . .                                                                        | 89         |
| 5.3      | Optimization and Application of 3MRA Model . . . . .                                                                                    | 99         |
| 5.3.1    | Introduction of the Model System . . . . .                                                                                              | 99         |
| 5.3.2    | Risk Assessment of Groundwater in China's LandfillAreas Based on the 3MRA Model. . . . .                                            | 99         |
|          | References . . . . .                                                                                                                    | 104        |
| 6 | Ranking Management Technology System for GroundwaterPollution Risk of Landfill . . . . .                                    | 105 |
| 6.1      | Index System for Groundwater Pollution Risk Rankingof Landfill . . . . .                                                            | 105        |

|       |                                                                                   |            |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 6.1.1 | Establishment Principles for Index System . . . . .                               | 105        |
| 6.1.2 | Methods and Procedures for Construction of IndexSystem. . . . .               | 106        |
| 6.1.3 | Construction of Index System . . . . .                                            | 107        |
| 6.1.4 | Index Weight Assignment . . . . .                                                 | 107        |
| 6.2   | Technical Methods for Groundwater Pollution Risk Rankingof Landfill . . . . . | 110        |
| 6.2.1 | Risk Ranking Methods. . . . .                                                     | 110        |
| 6.2.2 | Case Analysis. . . . .                                                            | 111        |
| 6.3   | Ranking Management of Groundwater Contaminationin Landfill. . . . .           | 117        |
| 6.3.1 | Connotation of Risk Ranking Management. . . . .                                   | 117        |
| 6.3.2 | Procedures and Methods of Ranking Management. . . . .                             | 118        |
|       | References . . . . .                                                              | 122        |
|       | Index . . . . .                                                            | 123 |