

Contents

---

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Acknowledgment  | v   |
| Preface to the English Edition by Barbara Katz Rothman  | vii |
| Preface to the German Edition   | xi  |
| 1. Introduction: Gene as the Basis for Decision Making?   | 1   |
| Distancing as a research approach  | 5   |
| 2. Genetic Education  | 8   |
| 2.1. The Gene  | 8   |
| 2.2. Educational Campaigns   | 17  |
| 2.2.1. Illiterate citizens? A Bremen congress  | 17  |
| 2.2.2. The genetic literacy campaign   | 21  |
| 2.2.3. Genetic counselling   | 27  |
| 2.3. On the History of Genetic Counselling:  |     |
| Genetics as the Foundation of Sociopolitics  | 31  |
| 2.3.1. The scientific management of hereditary dispositions                                  | 31  |
| 2.3.2. More effective than coercion:   |     |
| Education and responsibility   | 33  |
| 2.3.3. A new goal: The informed decision   | 37  |
| 3. "Informed Choice": How Genetic Counsellors Empowertheir Clients to Attain Self-Determination | 47  |
| 3.1. The Initial Transformation of the Person:   |     |
| The Client as a Gene Carrier   | 49  |
| 3.1.1. The genetic person  | 49  |
| 3.1.2. The incomprehensible self   | 51  |
| 3.1.3. Things in the body  | 56  |
| 3.1.4. Hidden causes   | 65  |
| 3.1.5. Meaningful information  | 68  |
| 3.1.6. Internal agents   | 72  |
| 3.1.7. Genes as an "illusion"  | 74  |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 3.2. Second Transformation of the Person:                 |     |
| Clients as Risk Carriers                                  | 77  |
| 3.2.1. A grave misunderstanding: Risk as diagnosis        | 78  |
| 3.2.2. The client as a statistical construct              | 81  |
| 3.2.3. The pathogenic effects of physician-attested risks | 86  |
| 3.2.4. Life in irrealis mood                              | 89  |
| 3.2.5. The genetic risk                                   | 95  |
| 3.2.6. The genetic self                                   | 102 |
| 3.3. The Compulsion to Risk Management: The Decision      | 105 |
| 3.3.1. The imperative of the autonomous decision          | 107 |
| 3.3.2. The option requiring a decision: The test          | 109 |
| 3.3.3. Self-determined helplessness                       | 115 |
| 3.3.4. Decision making:                                   |     |
| The paradox of personal risk assessment                   | 123 |
| 3.4. The Decision Trap                                    | 134 |
| 4. Conclusion: Disempowering Autonomy                     | 140 |
| 4.1. The Tyranny of Choice                                | 140 |
| 4.2. Autonomous Decision Making as Social Technology      | 143 |
| 4.3. Conclusion: Now What?                                | 145 |
| Transcription Conventions  | 147 |
| Bibliography   | 148 |
| Index  | 168 |