

Contents

Series Editors' Preface	vii
Translator's Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Excerpt from the Doctrine of Reason	xiv
Preface	xvi
Introduction to the Doctrine of Reason	1
First Main Part: Of Learned Cognition	3
First Section: Of Learned Cognition In General	5
Second Section: Of the Amplitude of Learned Cognition	11
Third Section: Of the Greatness of Learned Cognition	17
Fourth Section: Of the Truth of Learned Cognition	21
Fifth Section: Of the Clarity of Learned Cognition	27
Sixth Section: Of the Certainty of Learned Cognition	37
Seventh Section: Of Practical Learned Cognition	51
Eighth Section: Of Learned Concepts	57
Ninth Section: Of Learned Judgments	67
Tenth Section: Of Learned Rational Inferences	81
Second Main Part: Of the Method of Learned Cognition	93
Third Main Part: Of Learned Exposition	101
First Section: Of the Use of Words	103
Second Section: Of the Learned Style of Writing	109
Third Section: Of a Learned Discourse	113
Fourth Section: Of Learned Writings	121

Fourth Main Part: Of the Character of a Learned Man	125
Afterword Riccardo Pozzo	135
Concordance	147
German-English Glossary	189
English-German Glossary	191
Index	193