

Contents

Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	1
 Part I Quality	 7
 Chapter 1. Being-Nothing-Becoming	 9
A. Pure Being	9
B. Pure Nothing	14
C. Becoming	15
(a) The Unity of Being and Nothing	15
With What Must Science Begin?	26
The Opposition of Being and Nothing in Ordinary Thinking	39
Defectiveness of the Expression: Unity, Identity of Being and Nothing	42
Incomprehensibility of the Beginning	44
(b) Moments of Becoming: Coming-to-Be and Ceasing-to-Be	46
(c) Sublation of Becoming	47
The Nature of Hegel's Logic	48
 Chapter 2. Determinate Being	 54
A. Determinate Being as Such	55
(a) Determinate Being in General	55
(b) Quality	57
(c) Something	63
B. Finitude	69
(a) Something and an Other	70
(b) Determination, Constitution and Limit	77
(c) Finitude	85
(α) The Immediacy of Finitude	86
(β) Limitation and the Ought	86
The Ought	89
(γ) Transition of the Finite into the Infinite	91
C. Infinity	93
(a) The Infinite in General	94
(b) Alternating Determination of the Finite and the Infinite	94
(c) Affirmative Infinity	97
Idealism	101
 Chapter 3. Being-For-Self	 103
A. Being-For-Self as Such	104
(a) Determinate Being and Being-For-Self	104

(b) Being-For-One	106
Was für ein Ding?	108
(c) The One	109
B. The One and the Many	111
(a) The One in Its Own Self	112
(b) The One and the Void	115
Atomism	115
(c) Many Ones: Repulsion	117
C. Repulsion and Attraction	120
(a) Exclusion of the One	120
The Unity of the One and the Many	125
(b) The One One of Attraction	127
(c) The Relation of Repulsion and Attraction	129
Conclusion	134
 Part II Quantity	 137
 Chapter 4. Pure Quantity	 139
A. Pure Quantity	142
Quantitative Limit	145
Kant's Second Antinomy	149
B. Continuous and Discrete Magnitude	153
C. Limitation of Quantity	155
 Chapter 5. Quantum	 157
A. Number	157
Geometry and Arithmetic	160
B. Extensive and Intensive Quantum	166
(a) Their Difference	166
(b) Identity of Extensive and Intensive Magnitude	169
(c) Alteration of Quantum	171
C. Quantitative Infinity	172
(a) Its Notion	172
(b) The Quantitative Infinite Progress	174
The High Repute of the Progress to Infinity	175
Kant's Antinomy of the Limitation of Time and Space	177
(c) The Infinity of Quantum	179
Calculus	181
 Chapter 6. Quantitative Relation	 183
A. The Direct Ratio	185
B. Inverse Ratio	186
C. The Ratio of Powers	189
Conclusion	192
 Part III Measure	 195
 Chapter 7. Measure and Specific Quantity	 197
A. The Specific Quantum	204

B. Specifying Measure	208
(a) Rule	208
(b) Specifying Measure	210
(c) Relation of the two Sides as Qualities	212
C. Being-For-Self in Measure	215
Chapter 8. Real Measure	218
A. The Relation of Self-Subsistent Measures	220
(a) Combination of Two Measures	220
(b) Measure as a Series of Measure Relations	225
(c) Elective Affinity	228
B. Nodal Line of Measure-Relations	230
C. The Measureless	234
Chapter 9. The Becoming of Essence	239
A. Absolute Indifference	239
B. Indifference as Inverse Ratio of Its Factors	240
C. Transition into Essence	246
Conclusion	248
Part IV Reflection	249
Chapter 10. Illusory Being	251
A. The Essential and the Unessential	258
B. Illusory Being	261
C. Reflection	266
(a) Positing Reflection	268
(b) External Reflection	273
(c) Determining Reflection	274
Chapter 11. Determinations of Reflection	278
A. Identity	279
The First Original Law of Thought	281
B. Difference	284
(a) Absolute Difference	284
(b) Diversity	285
The Law of Diversity	289
(c) Opposition	290
Opposite Magnitudes in Arithmetic and Ethics	294
C. Contradiction	297
The Law of the Excluded Middle	302
The Law of Contradiction	303
Chapter 12 Ground	306
A. Absolute Ground	309
(a) Form and Essence	309
(b) Form and Matter	314
(c) Form and Content	317
B. Determinate Ground	318

x Contents

(a) Formal Ground	318
(b) Real Ground	322
(c) The Complete Ground	325
C. Condition	328
(a) The Relatively Unconditioned	328
(b) The Absolutely Unconditioned	331
(c) Emergence of the Fact [Sache] into Existence	334
Conclusion	337
 Part V Appearance	 339
 Chapter 13. Existence	 341
A. The Thing and Its Properties	346
(a) The Thing-in-Itself and Existence	346
(b) Property	349
(c) The Reciprocal Action of Things	351
B. The Constitution of the Thing Out of Matters	354
C. Dissolution of the Thing	357
 Chapter 14. Appearance	 360
A. The Law of Appearance	361
B. The World of Appearance and the World-in-Itself	368
C. Dissolution of Appearance	372
 Chapter 15. Essential Relation	 375
A. Relation of Whole and Parts	376
B. Relation of Force and Its Expression	381
(a) The Conditionedness of Force	383
(b) The Solicitation of Force	384
(c) The Infinity of Force	386
C. The Relation of Outer and Inner	387
 Part VI Actuality	 391
 Chapter 16. The Absolute	 393
A. The Exposition of the Absolute	394
B. The Absolute Attribute	397
C. The Mode of the Absolute	398
 Chapter 17. Actuality	 402
A. Contingency	403
B. Real Actuality, Possibility, and Necessity	407
C. Absolute Necessity	410
 Chapter 18. The Absolute Relation	 414
A. The Relation of Substantiality	415
B. The Relation of Causality	418
(a) Formal Causality	419
(b) The Determinate Relation of Causality	420

(c) Action and Reaction	424
C. Reciprocity	426
Conclusion	431
Part VII Subjectivity	433
Chapter 19. The Notion	435
A. The Universal Notion	445
B. The Particular Notion	449
C. The Individual	454
Chapter 20. Judgment	459
A. The Judgment of Existence (Inherence)	464
(a) The Positive Judgment	466
(b) The Negative Judgment	469
(c) The Infinite Judgment	473
B. The Judgment of Reflection	477
(a) The Singular Judgment	478
(b) The Particular Judgment	479
(c) The Universal Judgment	480
C. The Judgment of Necessity	482
(a) The Categorical Judgment	483
(b) The Hypothetical Judgment	484
(c) The Disjunctive Judgment	486
D. The Judgment of the Notion	488
(a) The Assertoric Judgment	488
(b) The Problematic Judgment	490
(c) The Apodeictic Judgment	491
Chapter 21. Syllogism	495
A. The Syllogism of Existence	497
(a) IPU	498
(b) PIU	500
(c) IUP	502
(d) Mathematical Syllogism	503
B. The Syllogism of Reflection	505
(a) The Syllogism of Allness	505
(b) The Syllogism of Induction	507
(c) The Syllogism of Analogy	508
C. The Syllogism of Necessity	512
(a) The Categorical Syllogism	512
(b) The Hypothetical Syllogism	514
(c) The Disjunctive Syllogism	517
Part VIII Objectivity	521
Chapter 22. Mechanism	523
A. The Mechanical Object	526
B. The Mechanical Process	529

xii Contents

(a) The Formal Mechanical Process	530
(b) The Real Mechanical Process	532
(c) The Product of the Mechanical Process	535
C. Absolute Mechanism	536
(a) The Center	536
(b) Law	538
(c) Transition of Mechanism	539
 Chapter 23. Chemism	 541
A. The Chemical Object	542
B. The Chemical Process	543
C. Transition of Chemism	546
 Chapter 24. Teleology	 547
A. Subjective End	550
B. Means	552
C. The Realized End	553
 Part IX Idea	 561
 Chapter 25. Life	 563
A. The Living Individual	564
B. The Life-Process	567
C. Genus	569
 Chapter 26. Cognition	 572
A. The Idea of the True	576
(a) Analytic Cognition	579
(b) Synthetic Cognition	582
1. Definition	583
2. Division	587
3. Theorem	587
B. The Idea of the Good	588
 Chapter 27. Absolute Idea	 593
 Chapter 28. Conclusion	 604
 Bibliography	 608
Index	617
Appendix: The Steps of the Logic	629