

CONTENTS

Foreword by Paul A. Shapiro	ix
Acknowledgements	xxiii
Abbreviations	xxv
1 The International Tracing Service Holdings	1
The International Tracing Service Holdings	6
Subunits One and Two	8
Subunit Three	14
Subunit Four	18
Subunit Five	20
Subunit Six	23
Nonscanned Materials	27
Using the International Tracing Service Holdings	28
Scholarly Opportunities	31
Document List	35
Documents	37
2 “Our Mothers, Our Fathers”: Lahnstein	53
Document List	76
Documents	79
3 Jewish Voices	101
“‘It All Depended on His Mood”	105
	vii

“Fragen an alle Auschwitzer”	107
“In Buchenwald I Said I Am a Gree[k] and Not [a] Jew”	113
We Regret to Inform You . . .	119
Document List	126
Documents	128
4 Hour Zero: The Year 1945	151
Hour Zero	152
Murder and Collaboration at War’s End	153
“But It Was None of My Business”	157
Death by March	158
Liberation	161
“Deaths Were Averaging 500 Per Day”	163
CORC/P (45) 54	167
Instead of Retribution, Justice	173
“Statistics”	174
Document List	176
Documents	178
5 Imagining the Displaced	189
Fresh Approaches to DPs using Mass Data Sets	191
DPs Born in Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America	193
Jews and the Quest for “Due Protection”	195
Muslims as Forced Laborers	199
“In Saigon I have my Father”	203
Il Duce	205
“Kalmook—Not Eligible for Any Scheme”	208
Collaborators and Perpetrators in ITS	211
Conclusion	218
Document List	220
Documents	232
Appendix: The International Tracing Service Holdings by Subunit	237
Bibliography	257
Index	271
About the Author	279