

9	WITNESSES: AGAINST OUR VANISHING	116	Visual AIDS' Day Without Art and Witnesses, 1989
17	ROOM 1	120	Exhibiting Art about AIDS
	ROOM 2	124	Witnesses in the Context of the Culture Wars
31	Chapter 1	128	The Controversy between Artists Space and the NEA, Fall 1989
	INTRODUCTION	131	Funding Witnesses: Perception of the Conflict
	ART about AIDS	131	The Controversy in the Press
33	The Meaning of Art During the AIDS Epidemic	135	The Controversy in the Eyes of Artists Space and Goldin's Community
39	Questions and Aims	139	Understanding and Contextualizing the Art Battles of 1989
41	Art about AIDS in Witnesses: Against Our Vanishing , 1989	147	Chapter 3
45	Was Art about AIDS an American Phenomenon in the 1980s? A Comparison with the Federal Republic of Germany		PHOTOGRAPHIC SELF- REPRESENTATION in WITNESSES and in the PRESS
50	Methodology and Theoretical Framework	186	Depicting Homosexuality in the Photographs in Witnesses
57	State of Research	188	Sexual Exposure of the Male Body: David Armstrong and Mark Morrisroe
63	Chapter 2	191	Sexuality and Politics: David Wojnarowicz's Sex Series
	CONCEPT and CONTEXT of WITNESSES: AGAINST OUR VANISHING	195	Depicting Homosexuality in American Press Photographs, 1983 to 1989
90	Nan Goldin as Curator: Promoting the Visibility of her Community	199	"Sexuality as a Positive Force"? Images of Homosexuality in the Context of AIDS
99	Goldin's Choice of Artworks: The Network on the Wall	201	Photographs of People with AIDS in Witnesses
103	Nan Goldin's Photographs of Gilles and Gotscho, 1991 to 1993	202	The Dissolution of the Body: Philip-Lorca diCorcia and David Armstrong
110	Comparison with Three Other Exhibitions about AIDS, 1989 to 1994	205	David Wojnarowicz's Triptych of Peter Hujar's Dead Body
110	Images &amp; Words: Artists Respond to AIDS , 1989	207	Staging his own Mortality: Mark Morrisroe
111	The Indomitable Spirit , 1990
114	From Media to Metaphor: Art About AIDS , 1992 to 1994

209	People with AIDS in American Press Photographs, 1983 to 1989	287	APPENDIX
213	Excursus: Nicholas Nixon's People with AIDS	288	References
215	"We will not Vanish"—The Representation of People with AIDS	289	Primary Sources
218	Appropriate Representation? The Reception of Photographs of People with AIDS	291	Literature
223	Personal Experience as a Guarantee of Authenticity	306	Exhibition Plan Witnesses: Against Our Vanishing
229	Gran Fury's Activist Art: "If it works—we use it."	308	Interviews and Correspondence
232	The Meaning of Art in the Context of AIDS	309	Interviews in Contemporary Art History
241	Chapter 4 NAN GOLDIN'S COMMUNITY between MARGINALIZATION and DISSOCIATION	312	Transcript 1: Interview with Ross Bleckner, 2011
250	The East Village Art Scene	318	Transcript 2: Interview with Dan Cameron, 2011
254	Goldin's Community as an Artistic Bohème?	323	Transcript 3: Interview with David Deitcher, 2011
260	The Art Community as People with AIDS	332	Transcript 4: Interview with Marvin Heiferman, 2011
263	The Exclusivity of Goldin's Community	337	Transcript 5: Interview with Kiki Smith, 2011
265	The Social Structure of the AIDS Movement	343	Transcript 6: Interview with Thomas W. Sokolowski, 2011
268	ACT UP as Elitist Mouthpiece of the AIDS Movement	345	Email Correspondence with Susan Wyatt, 2012
275	SUMMARY and FUTURE PROSPECTS	349	Credits
		351	Acknowledgements