

Contents

Acknowledgments.....	vii
Introduction.....	1
Methodology	10
Chapter Summaries	13
Leone Ebreo's Dialoghi d'amore : Appeal and Reception.....	16
1 Medico-Philosophical Concepts in Leone Ebreo's Dialoghi d'amore	25
Love and Cognition in Pico, Ficino, and Ebreo	27
Cognition as Copulation in the Dialoghi d'amore —Embodied Knowledge-Making.....	34
Anima Appetens—Mating Soul and Transmigration	41
Conclusion and Outlook.....	47
2 Female Love-Melancholy: Hélienne de Crenne, Galen, and the Dolce Stil Novo	51
Love's Cause and Its Effect on Hélienne	57
Love, Melancholy, and the Imagination.....	60
Love, Melancholy, and the Dolce Stil Novo.....	66
Encountering the Other's Gaze	70
Conclusion: Diagnosis, Potential Cure, and Literary Inspiration.....	74
3 Death, Resurrection, and the Anatomy of Epistemon in François Rabelais's Pantagruel	79
Literal: Epistemon's Death and Resurrection—The Panurgic Cure	83
Allegorical: Epistemon's Anatomy.....	85
Tropological: Literary Context and Moral Significance	87
Toward an Anagogical Interpretation: A. 'Arabist' and 'Anti-Arabist' Medical Practitioners.....	89
Toward an Anagogical Interpretation: B. Symphorien Champier and François Rabelais.....	92
Anagogical: (Spiritual) Panacea and the Success of Panurge's Wager	96
Conclusion.....	98
4 Renaissance Soul-Searching and Natural Philosophical Poetry	101
An Infinite Mind: Maurice Scève's Microcosme (1562).....	106
A Journey through the Cosmos (of Love): Transmigration in L'amour des amours (1555)	110

Ambiguous Mediators: Demons, Plants, Animals, and Philosophy in Ronsard's Hymnes (1555, 1556) and "Le chat" (1569).....	118
The All-Encompassing Protestant Soul in Du Bartas's Creation (1578, 1584).....	126
René Bretonnayau and the Cosmic Temple of the Soul (1583).....	133
Conclusion.....	137
5 Constitution of the Female Author: From Temperament to Alchemy in the Work of Marie de Gournay	141
Temperament, Complexion, Character	142
Juan Huarte de San Juan and the Examination of Men's Wits	145
Alchemy and Gender.....	150
Marie de Gournay as Practitioner of Alchemy.....	152
Alchemy and Writing: Transmuting Texts, Transmuting Relationships	156
Alchemical Images—Androgynous Souls	164
Conclusion: Androgynous Souls as Political Concepts	169
6 Evacuative Strategies in Jacques Dubois and Michel de Montaigne	173
Jacques Dubois (Jacobus Sylvius) and Mesue's Opera	176
Medical Practice: Drugs and Purging in the Essais	182
Occult Force and Quintessence: The Ambiguous Nature of Rhubarb	188
Purging Body and Soul: Montaigne's Embodied Cognition.....	190
Exemplum, Consilium, Observatio, Historia Montani.....	196
Conclusion: Evacuative Strategies and Spiritual Exercise.....	200
Conclusion	205
Literary Consciousness and Medical Culture.....	212
Bibliography	217
Index Nominum	251
Index Rerum.....	259