

Table of contents

How the Obersalzberg fell into the hands of the NSDAP.....	7
The planning of the initial road to the Kehlstein Mountain.....	18
Discussed for the first time: The construction of the "Eagle's Nest"	24
A cable system is used to haul materials to the Kehlstein summit.....	27
Once again, Bormann demands changes	29
More workers arrive	31
Construction progress and initial losses	37
Drilling of the "Südwest-Tunnel" (Also called the "Hochlenzertunnel").....	43
Changes in the road construction plans.....	46
Yet more assignments from the "Reichsleiter"	46
Additional tasks on the Kehlstein Mountain	47
The security fence	49
Safety at 6000 ft. above sea level	49
Even more time pressure	51
Additional tunnel construction	51
Construction of the subterranean elevator	56
An elaborate heating system of the elevator shaft.....	65
Consideration of a second cable system.....	68
The winter of 1938 – work continues.....	68
Construction of the "Kehlsteinhaus" (Eagle's Nest) on the Kehlstein summit	72
Controversy of the dumping of debris by the "Hochtief" Construction Company	80
Engineer Bruno Schenk applies pressure	80
Completion in sight	84
Hydrochloric acid is used to aid in the development of moss.....	88
Completion of the roads to Ligeret	88
Wishes from Bormann, once again.....	91
A look at the Weather conditions during construction	92
A look at Work conditions	93
Assigned to the Kehlstein project – an eyewitness reports	94
The Workers.....	94
Approval of the 60-Hour work week.....	97
Under the veil of secrecy – the "B-Barracks"	97
A look at the supply situation	98
A masterpiece of road construction is completed	98
The Kehlstein Road was completed in October 1938	98
Loss of human lives	103
Interior decorating expenses of the "Teehaus".....	116
Adolf Hitler and the Teehaus	117
Hitler's mistress at the Teehaus	123
If the bees are doing so well ... Hitler visits the Bee House at Landlerwald.	127
Relieved from duty due to lack of attention ... Failure by the Reich Security Service	127
Snow removal on Ligeret Road ... A typical story about Reichsleiter Martin Bormann	128
The Kehlstein Game and Bird Preserve.....	129
Total Cost of the Kehlstein Project.....	131
War, Air Defense and Allied intelligence activities	135
The Bombing Raid of April 25, 1945	139
The 3rd Infantry Division of the U.S. Army occupies Berchtesgaden and Obersalzberg.....	140
The occupation of Hitler's Teehaus on Kehlstein Mountain	144
Sightseeing.....	145
The Bavarian Government reopens the Kehlstein Road	150
The Eagle's Nest remains preserved.....	151
The Establishment of the "Berchtesgadener Landesstiftung" Foundation	152
Development of the passenger figures and prices 1960 – 1992	154
Removal of the former security fence by the Berchtesgaden Mountain Rescue Services	155
"War and Remembrance"	156
Extensive and costly scenic roads are deteriorating today	180
The Platterhof	197