Part I Theory

1	Introduction	3
1.1	Content of this Publication	3
1.2	Reason and Purpose of Project Comparison Technique	4
1.3	Similarity of Projects	6
1.4	Relativity of Results	6
1.5	Methods of Computing	7
1.6	Initial and Final Data of Projects	9
1.7	Presentation of the Material	9
2	Breakdown of Project Objective	11
2.1	Basic Objective Structure	11
2.2	Expanded and Reduced Objective Structures	13
2.3	Goals	14
2.3.1	Freedom of Choice	14
2.3.2	Base-Goals and Check-Goals	15
2.4	Goal Weights	17
2.5	Forms and Values of Goals and Goal Weights	19
3	Partial Comparison	21
3.1	The Term "Partial Comparison"	21
3.2	Parameters	21
3.3	Targets and Influences	23
3.4	Scatter Value and Guide Value	24
3.5	Supplementing the Scatter Value	26
3.5.1	Sign Rule	26
3.5.2	Standardization of Variation	26
3.5.3	Scale Constant	28
3.6	Difficulty and Keeping	28
3.7	Additional Example for Partial Comparison	29
3.8	Including Several Parameters	30
3.9	Partial Comparison Without Parameters	31

4	Introduction to Terminology	33
5	Total Comparison	35
5.1	Extending the Notions Difficulty and Keeping	35
5.1.1	Within the Basic Objective Structure	35
5.1.2	Within an Extended Objective Structure	37
5.2	Goodness: Concept and Characteristics	38
5.2.1	The Goodness Concept	38
5.2.2	Within the Basic Objective Structure	39
5.2.3	Within an Extended Objective Structure	41
5.3	Classification of Terms	41
6	Comparison Typology	43
6.1	Types of Comparisons by Data Combinations	43
6.2	Including Quasi-Parameters	44
6.3	Descriptive and Inferential Comparisons	47
6.4	Initial and Final Comparisons	47
6.5	Comprehensive Terminology	51
7	Correction for Cost, Price, and Working-Time Index	53
8	Mathematical Issues of Partial Comparisons	55
8.1	Balance Function	55
8.2	Transformations	60
8.3	Standard Deviation of Scatter Values	61
8.4	Methodological Conditions and Steps of Parametric Partial Comparisons	61
8.5	Realization Probability of Project Objectives	64
8.6	Parametric Project Model	67
8.7	Difficulty as a Quasi-Parameter	69
8.8	The Systematics of Terminology	70
 Part II Application
9	177 Projects as an Example	75
9.1	Contents and Settings	75
9.2	Product Range	76
9.3	Project Realization and Organization	76
9.3.1	Phases	76
9.3.2	Project Features	78
9.3.3	Project Management	79

10 Collecting, Keeping, and Processing Data	81
10.1 Origin	81
10.2 The Concept of Collected Variables	82
10.2.1 Overview	82
10.2.2 Details	83
10.3 Collection Stages and Reference Lists	85
10.4 File Structure and Evaluation Tools	90
10.5 Data Errors	92
11 Total Comparison of all 177 Projects	95
11.1 Purpose	95
11.2 Goals and Goal Weights	95
11.3 Parameters	97
11.4 Balance Functions and Result Plots	98
11.5 Statistics Issues	104

Part III Utilization

12 Presenting Comparison Results	109
12.1 General Considerations	109
12.2 Comparison Tables	109
12.3 Star Charts	112
12.4 Planning Charts	114
12.5 Time Series and Trend Charts	116
13 Application Issues	125
13.1 Getting the Parameters	125
13.1.1 How to Search for Parameters	125
13.1.2 How to Select Parameters	126
13.2 Effects of Individual Parameters	127
13.3 Stability of Project Goodness	130
13.4 Organizing and Communicating Your Work	131
13.5 Exogenous Planning and Controlling of Project Progress	132
13.5.1 Purpose	132
13.5.2 Data Base	132
13.5.3 Application	133
13.6 Objective-Independent Terminology	134
14 Specialized Prognosis Methods for some Base-Goals	137
14.1 Notions	137
14.2 Price	137
14.3 COCOMO	138
14.4 Function Points	140
14.4.1 Short Description	140

14.4.2	Inverse Calculation	141
14.4.3	Supplementing Inverse Calculation by Normal Calculation	143
15	A Software Tool for Simple Project Comparisons	145
16	Approaching Success Characteristics	147
16.1	Binary Objectives and Quasi-Objectives	147
16.2	Taking Account of Binarity	148
16.3	Taking Account of Stakeholder Satisfaction	150
16.4	Taking Account of the Form of Project Management	152
16.5	Taking Account of the Project Consequences	152
16.6	Total Comparison, Including the New Criteria	154
	Table of Abbreviations	157
	Bibliography of the German Edition	161
	Additional Bibliography of the English Edition	165
	List of Figures	167
	Index	171
