

Table of Contents

List of Illustrations	VII
Preface and Acknowledgments	IX
Notes	XI
Abbreviations.....	XIII
 Part I—How it began	 1
Chapter 1: Introduction—gifts for the Royal Navy, and the Patriotic League.....	3
Chapter 2: And for the Army, Vickers Gunbus Dominica , and a kite balloon	17
Chapter 3: The Imperial Aircraft Flotilla Takes Off, 1915–1916	33
 Part II—Case Studies: The campaign’s spread and development ...	 53
Chapter 4: Press and personal networks: Canada and Newfoundland	55
Chapter 5: Sultan Seyyid Khalifa of Zanzibar and the Royal Naval Air Service	69
Chapter 6: Tropical Sugarcane Producers: Pacific, Indian Ocean, and Caribbean	83
Chapter 7: Eastern outposts—bankers and philanthropists of Hong Kong.....	101
Chapter 8: The Malaya Air Fleet Fund—the Straits Settlements and Malay states.....	115
Chapter 9: West Africa, and most particularly Gold Coast, and Hugh Clifford.....	135
Chapter 10: The Rhodesias—friends in high places, a Grey area?..	153
Chapter 11: The Basuto nation, the British sovereign, and 25 Sopwith Camels.....	171
Chapter 12: Swaziland, Major Miller, the Union of South Africa, and Jan Smuts	187
Chapter 13: The Indian Empire: The sub-continent and Burma....	201

Chapter 14: Birds of Ceylon—a very strange campaign indeed...	215
Chapter 15: Furthest ripples of the Great War reach Abyssinia and Siam.....	231
Chapter 16: Big and small donors: The Shanghai Race Club and Argentine Britons	247
Chapter 17: Charles Alma Baker and the Australian Air Squadrons Fund.....	263
Part III—How it ended, and epilogue	283
Chapter 18: New Zealand and Britain’s aeroplane gifts to the Dominions	285
Chapter 19: Cast list: minorities, colonials, ‘subject peoples’ and native rulers	303
Chapter 20: The orchestration of support—the British Empire’s last curtain call?	317
Annexes	331
Annex I: The Overseas Club.....	332
Annex II: The Patriotic League of Britons Overseas.....	334
Annex III: The Imperial Air Fleet Committee	335
Annex IV: Procedural correspondence and instructions	336
Endnotes	339
Bibliography I—Primary Sources	367
Bibliography II—Secondary Sources	373
Index.....	387