

Table of Contents

Abbreviations	15
Introduction	17
1. The persistence of sovereign defaults	23
1.1. The insolvency of sovereign borrowers	23
1.2. The timelessness of modified debt crisis	26
1.3. The absence of institutional mechanisms	28
2. The place of international law in sovereign debt management	30
2.1. The search of a legal framework	30
2.2. The unsuccessful concrete proposals	32
2.3. Determination of the field of study	33
PART I. SOVEREIGN DEBT – BETWEEN PUBLIC INTEREST AND PRIVATE INSTRUMENTS	37
Title I. CONTRACTUALISATION OF DEBT SUPPORTS	38
CHAPTER 1. Decline of International Financial Agreements	39
1. Financial cooperation and debt policy	39
1.1. International relations and interstate financial agreements	40
1.1.1. Sovereign financial obligations and international law	40
1.1.2. Economic diplomacy through financial agreements	46
1.2. The termination of bilateral financial agreements	49
1.2.1. The absence of an international conventional framework	50
1.2.2. The challenge of international financial treaties	54
2. Multilateral financial cooperation	58
2.1. Multilateralisation of public financing	58

2.1.1. Sovereign financing by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund	58
2.1.2. The objective of a sovereign debt management	62
2.2. Regionalisation of sovereign financing	64
2.2.1. Multiplication of public operators	64
2.2.2. Entry of financial markets in international public finance	66
 CHAPTER 2. Generalisation of Private Contracts through Banking Intermediation	 68
1. Banking intermediation in sovereign financing	68
1.1. Private creditors versus sovereignty	68
1.1.1. Historical intervention of private creditors	69
1.1.2. Sovereign debtors through economic prism	71
1.2. Emergence of international syndicated loan markets	74
1.2.1. International syndicated loans financing sovereign debt	75
1.2.2. Collapse of US banks and fear of contagion	77
2. Privatisation of sovereign debt	79
2.1. Private law and sovereign debt	79
2.1.1. Contractual standardisation	79
2.1.2. Managing sovereign risk	82
2.1.3. Standard covenants applied to sovereign borrowers	84
2.2. Disintermediation of debt market	87
2.2.1. A debt system organised by private operators	87
2.2.2. Disintermediation of debt products	88
 Title I. CONCLUSION	 91
 Title II. IMPACT OF DEBT PRIVATISATION ON SOVEREIGN DEBT DEFAULT	 92
 CHAPTER 3. Financialisation of Sovereign Debt and Imposition of Market Practices	 93
1. Internationalisation of sovereign debt instruments	93

1.1. Configuration of sovereign debt primary market	93
1.1.1. Predominance of sovereign debt bonds	94
1.1.2. Heterogeneous bond issuance practices	97
1.2. Sovereign debt bonds on secondary markets	101
1.2.1. A financial reference for markets	101
1.2.2. Sovereign financing securitisation	103
2. Internationalisation of sovereign debt operators	104
2.1. Professionalisation of debt operators	104
2.1.1. Concentration of operators and dispersion of investors	105
2.1.2. Professionalisation of debt management	108
2.2. States and international institutional regulators	111
2.2.1. States and organisation of financial markets	111
2.2.2. Debt management by central banks and supervisory authorities	112
CHAPTER 4. Reinforcement of Sovereign Debt Crises	113
1. Sovereign debt crises	114
1.1. From financial crisis to sovereign debt crisis	114
1.1.1. Anatomy of the crisis and analysis of a contagion	115
1.1.2. Result of a predictable situation	117
1.1.3. Criteria of sovereign default on the financial market	119
1.2. Challenges and pending questions	122
1.2.1. Lack of international financial architecture	122
1.2.2. Lack of lender of last resort for States	124
1.2.3. Legal inconsistencies in sovereign financing	127
2. Costs of default	129
2.1. Restricted funding	129
2.1.1. Financial, economic and commercial sanctions	130
2.1.2. Political consequences	131
2.2. Arbitrability of sovereign debt litigation	132
2.2.1. End of sovereign immunity on debt matters	132
2.2.2. Success of holdout creditors	135

Title II. CONCLUSION	139
PART I. CONCLUSION	140
PART II. PUBLICISATION OF SOVEREIGN DEBTMANAGEMENT	141
Title III. INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK OF CONTRACTUAL INSTRUMENTS	143
CHAPTER 5. Choice of Contractual Measures for Debt Restructuring	143
1. Ad hoc restructuring fora for collective processing	144
1.1. Restructuring plans of the Paris and London Clubs	144
1.1.1. The Paris Club, from restructuring to debt reduction	144
1.1.2. The London Club, banking committees for restructuring	148
1.2. Greek restructuring under the auspices of the Troika	151
1.2.1. Towards the establishment of a European legal framework for restructuring	151
1.2.2. Unequal contribution of private creditors	155
1.2.3. Absence of formal hierarchy of creditors	157
2. Contractual clauses and litigation	159
2.1. Procedural issues of the Argentine Republic	159
2.1.1. Holdout creditors before courts	159
2.1.2. Alternative diplomatic methods	163
2.2. Legal technicality and privatisation of sovereign debt litigation	166
2.2.1. Clauses anticipating litigation	166
2.2.2. Integration of collective action clauses	168
2.2.3. Limits of contractual approach and ad hoc mechanisms	170
CHAPTER 6. International Financial Institutions and Rescheduling	171
1. The International Monetary Fund, an ad hoc rescheduling regulator	172

1.1. Mediator of renegotiations	173
1.1.1. A financial mediator and a lender of last resort	173
1.1.2. IMF and debt restructuring	178
1.2. IMF proposals to manage restructuring	181
1.2.1. The sovereign debt restructuring mechanism	181
1.2.2. Renunciation to the sovereign debt restructuring mechanism	184
2. International financial institutions and debt management	186
2.1. Sovereign indebtedness versus development	186
2.1.1. Initiators of debt management	187
2.1.2. Debt renegotiation and debt relief	189
2.2. Monitoring sovereign debt levels	192
Title III. CONCLUSION	196
Title IV. SOVEREIGN DEBT MANAGEMENT, AN INTERNATIONAL PRIORITY FOR STATES	197
CHAPTER 7. Global Debt Management and Framework Proposals	198
1. Institutional action to restore financial multilateralism	198
1.1. Strengthening international cooperation	199
1.1.1. Status quo of the international consensus	199
1.1.2. Promoting financial multilateralism	202
1.2. Sharing good management practices	204
1.2.1. International audits	204
1.2.2. Towards an accounting of the overall debt level	206
2. Defining rules to ensure stability	208
2.1. Financial innovation for collective interest	208
2.1.1. Modifying global finance	209
2.1.2. Towards a regulation of European debt bonds	210
2.2. A unique way to multilateral dispute settlement	211
2.2.1. A mutualisation of benefits	211
2.2.2. Towards a European crisis resolution framework	216
CHAPTER 8. Elaboration of an International Economic Law of Sovereign Indebtedness	218

1. General principles for comprehensive operations	219
1.1. Soft law and international financing law	220
1.1.1. Codes of good conduct, reports and information sharing	220
1.1.2. Towards a standardised debt management	221
1.2. Soft law regulation of sovereign financing	223
1.2.1. Soft law and international financial institutions	223
1.2.2. Soft law and market professionals	226
1.2.3. Soft law and the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development	230
2. An imperfect law for sovereign debt management	233
2.1. De-formalisation of international law	234
2.2. Enhancing general principles	237
 Title IV. CONCLUSION	 241
 PART II. CONCLUSION	 242
 GENERAL CONCLUSION	 243
 Bibliography	 249