

Contents

INTRODUCTION BY P. N. SINGER	vii
------------------------------	-----

MORIZ SCHEYER'S MANUSCRIPT

Author's foreword	1
1. The 'Anschluss'	5
2. Breathing again: Switzerland	16
3. France: beloved France	20
4. Earning the first hundred francs	26
5. The men in berets	31
6. The 'Drôle de Guerre'	35
7. Paris, ghost of an enchanted city	42
8. Paths of the Exodus	45
9. 'Armistice'	51
10. Paris under the German boot	57
11. The French ... and the French	61
12. From 'the Israelites' to 'the Jew'	71
13. Stay of execution	77
14. 'For examination of your situation'	79
15. Hut 8	86
16. Another stay of execution	101
17. 'Zone libre'	104

18. Voiron	113
19. Nine gendarmes versus five Jews	118
20. Caserne Bizanet, Grenoble	123
21. A toast	132
22. Escape to Switzerland	137
23. A telegram	147
24. Labarde	152
25. Blessed are the poor in spirit	157
26. Nuns	164
27. A glimpse through a peephole	170
28. Music	179
29. Eugène le Roy	183
30. Informers	187
31. In place of a chapter on the Resistance	191
32. They're coming – they're not coming – they're coming!	196
33. The morning of 6th June 1944	204
34. Summer	207
35. The first step into freedom	213
36. Carlos	226
37. In memory of my comrades from the concentration camp at Beaune-la-Rolande	231
38. The undeserving survivors	237
39. Still in Labarde: but free	245
Afterword	252
TRANSLATOR'S EPILOGUE	257
MORIZ SCHEYER: WRITER	282
PEOPLE MENTIONED IN THE TEXT	293
A CHRONOLOGY OF EVENTS: 1933–1945	301
FURTHER READING	304