

Contents

Editorial Section

- Introduction: Refugees in Higher Education—Questioning the Notion of Integration 3
Jana Berg, Michael Grüttner, and Bernhard Streitwieser

- Higher Education and Study Preparation from the Perspective of Refugee Students in Germany 19
Nail Kara, Abedallah Abuhawa, and Pizzo

Empirical Research

- Online Education, Offline Integration? Supporting Refugees' Social Integration by Online Education 29
Belma Halkic and Patricia Arnold

- Refugee Students in German Higher Education: How Perceptions of Time and Language Impact on Academic Experiences 55
Anika Müller-Karabil and Claudia Harsch

- From Refugee Programmes to a Benefit for All: The Extension of University Study Preparation Programmes to Other Target Groups in Germany 77
Steffen Beigang

- Refugee and Third-Generation Migrant Students in Comparison: Class Position and Integration Discourse 99
Emre Arslan

“But I Am (not) from...”: A Qualitative Analysis of Intragroup Self-Differentiation Processes Among International Degree Seeking Students in Germany	127
Jesús Pineda
Facilitating Access of Syrian Refugees to Higher Education in Turkey as an Instrument for Integration	147
Armağan Erdoğan and M. Murat Erdoğan
Desk Research
Admissions Policy and Practice Regarding Refugee Students in U.S. Higher Education: What is Known?	173
Bryce Loo
The Politics of Restricted Meritocracy: Refugees in Higher Education in Germany	193
Christin Younso and Hannes Schammann
Beyond “Integration”—Why There is More at Stake	205
Katrin Sontag	