

Contents

Introduction — 1

- 1 Harsh Realities: Lack of Freedom – Desire for Freedom — 1
Extremes of Human Existence Past and Present — 1
- 2 Modern Phenomena and Pre-Modern Conditions — 4

A Imprisonment — 19

- 1 Medieval Comments on Imprisonment and Prisons — 19
- 2 The Exemplary Case of Hans Ulrich Krafft: An Early Modern Prisoner Reflects on His Experiences — 26
- 3 The Philosopher in the Prison (Boethius and Thomas More) — 29
- 4 The Exile: Literary Reflections from Antiquity to the Late Middle Ages — 32
- 5 The Prisoner — 37
- 6 The Slave — 39

B Freedom — 40

- 1 Freedom – A Complex Topic Throughout Time — 40
- 2 Hugo von Trimberg: The Social Discourse in the High and Late Middle Ages — 48
- 3 Eike von Repgow, Sachsenspiegel — 53
- 4 The Quest for Freedom in Medieval Fables — 55
- 4.1 Marie de France — 60
- 4.2 Ulrich Bonerius — 61

C Imprisonment and Slavery Through Many Different Lenses — 66

- 1 Former Slaves as Authors — 70
- 1.1 Johann Schiltberger — 71
- 1.2 The Slave Georgius of Hungary — 74
- 1.3 The Slave Harck Olufs — 84
- 2 Dante Alighieri and Boethius, Again — 86
- 3 Freedom and Imprisonment since Antiquity — 93
- 4 The Magna Carta — 100
- 5 Waltharius: An Early Medieval Heroic Poem in Latin — 103
- 6 Marie de France: Marriage as Prison? — 110

D	Literary Treatment of Imprisonment and Slavery — 120
1	Boccaccio's Decameron — 120
2	Heinrich Kaufringer: Further Examples in Late Medieval mæren — 121
3	Interim – Slavery in Historical Terms: A Few Examples in Support of the Literary Evidence — 124
4	Slavery in Icelandic Sagas – Fleeting but Revealing References — 125
5	Aucassin and Nicolette : The Female Slave as the Beloved — 133
6	Floire et Blanchefleur — 138
7	Konrad Fleck: The Middle High German Version — 141
8	Wolfram von Eschenbach, Willehalm — 143
9	The Literary and the Historical Dimension Intertwined — 147
10	Apollonius of Tyre — 148
11	Kudrun : A Thirteenth-Century Heroic Epic — 152
12	Das Lied vom Hürnen Seyfrid — 156
13	Rudolf von Ems: Der guote Gêrhart — 160
14	Geoffrey de Villehardouin's Conquête de Constantinople — 166
15	Boccaccio's Decameron in a New Context — 168
16	Don Juan Manuel, El Conde Lucanor – Medieval Spanish Reflections — 171
E	Famous Historical Prisoners — 174
1	Richard I: The English King as Prisoner — 174
2	The French King Louis IX as Prisoner of the Mamluks of Egypt — 180
3	Charles d'Orléans: The French Dauphin as Royal Prisoner in England — 182
4	King James I of Scotland: Another Royal Prisoner and Poet — 190
5	Oswald von Wolkenstein: A Tyrolean Poet and His Prison Experience — 194
F	Crime and Imprisonment in Literary Terms — 199
1	Wolfram von Eschenbach's Parzival — 199
2	Geoffrey Chaucer and Rape — 201
2.1	Imprisonment and Punishment of the Evil Knight — 201
2.2	Chaucer's Knights in the Prison — 201
3	Ulrich von Zatzikhoven and His Version of the Lancelot Romance — 204

4	Other Literary Reflections of Imprisonment —	207
5	Dante Alighieri, the Allegorical Prison —	211
6	Christine de Pizan: A Late Medieval Female Writer's —	217
7	Fortunatus (anonymous, 1509) —	219

G Freedom, the Protestant Reformation, and Slavery in the New World — 227

1	Martin Luther's Concept of Freedom —	227
2	Bartolomé de las Casas —	232
3	Marguerite de Navarre: Life as a Prison. Allegorical Reflections —	240

Conclusions — 242

Acknowledgment — 252

Bibliography — 257

Index — 307