Part I Introduction

1	Introduction and Overview	3
2	List of Symbols	7
3	Short History of Performance Theory	11
3.1	The Philosophical Tradition	12
3.2	The Empirical Tradition	16
4	Oniontology	21
4.1	Realities	22
4.2	Communication	23
4.3	Semiotics	24
4.4	Embodiment	25
4.5	The Baboushka Principle	26
4.6	Topography of Performance	27
4.7	Semiotic Expressivity	28
4.8	Rhetorical Expressivity	30
4.9	CSI Anatomy	31
4.10	ISC Anatomy	33
4.11	Multi-agent Communication	34
4.12	The Performer's Balanced Dancing Presence	36

Part II Structure Theory

5	What Is Structure Theory?	43
----------	----------------------------------	-----------

6	Tempo Curves	47
6.1	What is Tempo?	48
6.1.1	Some Remarks on the History and Ethnography of Tempo	52
6.2	Calculating Time from Tempo	54
7	Tuning, Intonation, and Dynamics	57
7.1	Tuning and Intonation	58
7.2	Dynamics	67
8	Combining Tempo, Tuning, and Dynamics	69
9	Articulation	77
10	General Performance Fields	81
10.1	General Performance Fields	81
10.2	Initial Sets	83
10.3	Measuring Performance Fields	84
11	The Category of Performance Cells and Hierarchies	87

Part III Expressive Theory

12	What Is Expressive Theory?	93
12.1	Experiments in Expressive Performance	95
13	Emotional Expression	97
13.1	What is Emotion?	97
13.2	Some Physiological Evidences	100
13.3	Manfred Clynes' Essentic Forms	105
13.4	Reinhard Kopiez' and Jörg Langner's Theory of Oscillating Systems	106
13.5	Anders Friberg's Feature-based Model	107
13.6	Alf Gabrielsson's Isomorphism	110
14	Gestural Expression	115
14.1	General Facts About Gesture Theory in Music	115
14.2	Roger Sessions: Gestures in Performance	116
14.3	Theodor Wiesengrund Adorno's Gesture Theory in Musical Reproduction	118
14.4	Renate Wieland's Gestural Piano Pedagogy	121
14.5	Manfred Clynes' Essentics as a Theory of Gestural Expressivity	123
14.6	Johan Sundberg, Neil P. McAgnus Todd: Mechanical Models of Gestures in Music	124
14.7	Guerino Mazzola and Stefan Müller: Modeling the Pianist's Hand	126

14.7.1 Modeling the Hand	127
14.7.2 Transforming Abstract Note Symbols into Symbolic Gestures	127
14.7.3 Deforming Symbolic Hand Gestures into Physically Valid Curves	129
14.8 A Mathematical Gesture Theory	129
14.9 Anders Friberg, Antoni Camurri et al.: Computer-aided Emotional Analysis of Performance	132
15 Analytical Expression	135
15.1 Adorno's Analytical Performance Study of Webern's First Bagatelle	136
15.2 Anders Friberg, Johan Sundberg, and Lars Frydén: Director Musices Performance Software	143
15.3 Guerino Mazzola and Oliver Zahorka: The Rubato Theory of Analytical Performance	146
16 Analytical Weights	149
16.1 Metrical Weights	150
16.2 Melodic Weights	154
16.3 Harmonic Weights	155
16.4 Primavista Weights	157
17 Shaping Operators	159
17.1 Are Lie Type Operators Universal?	161
18 Two Generic Models and the Challenge of Improvisation ...	163
18.1 The GERM Model	163
18.2 Todd's Generic Approach	164
18.3 The Challenge of Improvisation	165
18.3.1 Expansion of Improvisational Time-Spaces	167
18.3.2 The Analysis	170
19 String Quartet Theory	173
19.1 Historical and Theoretical Prerequisites	174
19.2 The General Plan	177
19.2.1 General Position for Performance: Four Examples	178
19.3 The Sound Space of the Violin Family	180
19.4 Notes in General Position	182
19.5 Performance of the String Quartet	183
 Part IV Rubato: Model and Software
20 Performance Scores	187

21	Stemma Theory	191
21.1	Tempo Hierarchies in the presto [®] Software	193
21.2	The General Stemma Concept	196
21.3	The New Performance Rubette: Realtime, Openness, and Gesturality	199
22	Case Studies	201
22.1	Schumann's Träumerei : The First Performance Experiment with RUBATO [®]	201
22.2	Schumann's Kuriose Geschichte	206
22.3	Bach's Kunst der Fuge	208
22.3.1	Rhythmical Analysis	209
22.3.2	Motif Analysis	209
22.3.3	Target-driven vs. Experimental Stemma Constructions	211
22.3.4	Performance Setup	211
22.3.5	Construction of Third Performance Parcours	212
22.3.6	Final Discussion	213
23	Statistics	217
23.1	Hierarchical Decomposition of Weights	218

Part V Inverse Performance

24	What Is Inverse Performance Theory?	227
24.1	Technical Aspects	228
24.1.1	Reconstruction of the Performance Map from Recording Data	228
24.1.2	Reconstruction of the Stemma from the Performance Map	229
25	The Technical Setup	231
26	Schumann's Träumerei: Argerich vs. Horowitz	235
27	Rethinking Music Critique	239
27.1	Boiling Down Infinity	239
27.2	Glenn Gould's Politically Incorrect Performance	240

Part VI Epilogue

28	Summary of Performance Theory	247
29	Future Developments	251
