

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	5
Introduction	19
CHAPTER I: The phenomenon of irregular migration in the European Union: historical developments and preliminary questions of terminology	26
1. Theories of migration: an overview	26
2. The phenomenon of migration in the Member States	34
3. The birth of the concept of irregular migration in the European Union	44
4. Irregular immigration into Member States of European Union	56
5. Different typologies of migrants	62
6. The relationship between a regular and an irregular status	64
7. Irregular migration by European Union legislations: questions of definition	69
CHAPTER II: The protection of human rights of irregular migrants in the legal framework of European Union	80
Introduction	80
A. Human rights and irregular migrants at international level	80
1. Preliminary observations on international human rights law	80
2. The protection of migrants within an international scenario: the issue of irregular migration	84
2.1. Human rights protection of irregular migrants under the United Nation treaties	85
2.2. Irregular migrants under the ILO Conventions No. 97 and No. 143	88
2.3. Irregular migrants under the UN Migrant Worker Convention	90
	13

3. The rights of migrants in the international migration discourse	93
B. Human rights and irregular migrants at European Union level	94
1. The general principles of EU Law and human rights	94
2. The issue of irregular migration of the European Union level: overview	97
a) Addressing the root causes of irregular and forced displacement in third countries:	100
b) The fight against smugglers and traffickers	101
c) Return	103
d) Effective integration	106
e) Maximising the development benefits for countries of origin:	107
3. Human rights of irregular migrants and their protection in EU	110
3.1. The European Convention on Human Rights and irregular migrants	110
3.2. The EU and the ECHR: interpretation and accession	115
3.3. The EU Charter of Fundamental Rights and irregular migrants	116
3.4. The European Social Charter and irregular migrants	119
3.5. The European Code of Social Security as well as the European Convention on Social Security and irregular migrants	121
3.6. The European Convention on the Legal Status of Migrant Workers and irregular migrants	122
3.7. The European Convention for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment and irregular migrants	122
4. Some concluding consideration on the protection of human rights of irregular migrants at the European and International law level	123

C. Human Rights and Irregular Migrants in the Entry Phase at European Union Level: General overview	124
1. An overview on EU migration policies: irregular migration	125
1.1. Recent policy developments: the “Global Approach to Migration and Mobility”	127
1.2. The June 2014 strategic guidelines	128
1.3. The European Agenda on Migration	129
1.4. Recent legislative developments	129
a) Irregular immigration	129
b) Role of the European Parliament	131
I. High Sea	132
1. Initiative of some Member States to counteract the irregular migration flow	134
2. Protocol against the Smuggling of Migrant by Land, Air and Sea Supplementing the UN Convention against Transnational Organized Crime	136
3. EU policies against smuggling	139
4. The Mediterranean task force	147
4.1. The lack of protection of human rights in the joint operations	152
4.2. The lack of search and rescue joint operations	153
5. Application of human rights law at sea	156
6. Further specific human rights issues	160
6.1. Use of force, inhuman treatment and violations of the right to life	160
6.2. Arbitrary detention	162
6.3. Collective expulsion	163
6.4. An obligation of non-refoulment at sea	164
II. Hot Spot	165
1. The hotspot approach	167
2. The European agencies are involved in the hotspot approach	171
3. The added value of the hotspot approach	173
4. Considerations on the hotspot approach	174
III. The detention and return of irregular immigrants	176
1. The return procedure	177
2. Detention and its limits	184
3. Human rights protection during return procedures	189

4. Some considerations on detention and return procedures	196
Chapter III: The implementation of human rights for irregular migrants in the Member States	198
Introduction	198
A. Italy: the protection of human rights of irregular migrants in the entry phase within the Italian legal system	199
I. The phenomenon of irregular migration within Italian legislation	199
1. Categories of migrants under the Italian regulation	199
1.1. Titles of regular entry in Italy	200
1.2. The status of irregularity in Italy	202
2. The protection of the human rights of irregular migrants in Italy: an overview	204
3. The crime of irregular migration and aggravating circumstance	212
4. Irregular migrants and the restriction of their human rights in Italy	218
II. The sea: irregular migrants by sea and the protection of human rights	222
1. Arrivals of migrants by sea in the Euro-Mediterranean area: the situation on the Italian shores	222
2. The structure of the Italian maritime border system	225
2.1. Normative aspect	225
2.2. Political and institutional aspects	228
3. The different phases of the Italian policies for the control of maritime borders	232
4. The North Africa crisis and the solution to manage the new migration flows	237
III. Reception: irregular migrants, first and second reception and the protection of human rights	243
1. Hotspots and the protection of human rights	243
2. Centres of first aid and reception and reception centres for asylum seekers ante reform	244
3. 2015 Reform	249
3.1. First aid and reception centers	251
3.2. First reception centres (CPA)	253
3.3. Hotspot approach	254

4. Criticism of the reform	257
4.1. Personal freedom in the first aid and reception centres (CPSA)	257
4.2. The violation of the right to a correct information and ban on collective expulsion	258
4.3. The use of physical coercion	259
4.4. First reception centres and the protection of human rights	260
5. The jurisdiction: ordinary, administrative and the supranational court	261
IV. Return: the return of irregular migrants and the protection of human rights	262
1. Irregulars and the expulsion trend	262
2. The expulsion procedure	264
3. Administrative detention	267
4. The rejection system	270
5. Judicial protection	272
6. Returns	274
Conclusion	279
B. Germany: the protection of human rights of irregular migrants in the entry phase within the German legal system	282
I. Irregular migration law	282
1. Categories of regular and irregular migrants in the German legal system	282
1.1. The German legislation on the irregular entrance or staying of migrants	285
1.2. The German legislation on the entry and stay of irregular European citizens	289
2. Asylum procedure	292
II. Return: the protection of human rights within the detention and return procedures	297
1. Return procedure	297
2. Deportation measures for irregular and regular migrants	298
2.1. Specific deportation measures	299
2.2. Detention	302
3. Detention Centre	303
4. Centre for refugees	306

Conclusion: some reflections in particular on detention procedure	308
III. Italy and Germany: two legal systems in comparison	317
1. Reflections on the power of the Member States on the issue of irregular migration: the role of International Law	318
2. The concentration of the management of immigration phenomenon: to the overlap of the administrative and judicial system in Italy	319
2.1. The first reception centres and the German model	321
3. Reflections on the measure of assisted repatriations: the efficiency of the German system	322
3.1. The deficiencies of the Italian assisted repatriation measure and the German model	323
4. Reflections on the case of “duldung” in Germany and the violation of their human rights	325
4.1. Italy and Germany closer in the restriction on human rights of irregular migrants	327
5. Italy and Germany and the restriction of personal liberty based on the status	328
5.1. Crime of clandestinity in Italy	328
5.2. Crime of clandestinity in Germany	329
6. The violations of human rights during the return procedures: both Italy and Germany do not respect Art. 16 of Return Directive	329
Conclusion	331
Legislation (chronological order)	336
Research Reports/Conference Presentations (chronological order)	344
Bibliography	351