

Table of contents

Acknowledgements	1
Preface	3
by Kansite Gellebo
Editor's preface	13
by Sophia Thubauville

The Konso

by Adolf Ellegard Jensen

Country and its people.	29
Social life	53
The xelta system	53
The xelta system in northeast Konso.	57
Age groups	57
The dual system	58
Sequence of festivities.	63
The xelta system in northwest Konso	74
Age groups	75
The dual system	76
Marriage in the xelta system.	78
Sequence of festivities.	80
The xelta system in southwest Konso or Fasha	83
Age groups and triple division.	84
Officials	85
The xelta system in southeast Konso	87
Offices, clans and caste systems	91
Hereditary and non-hereditary offices	91
The nine clans	100
The castes	103
Religious and spiritual life.	115
The idea of God	115

Myths of origin	120
Spirits and illness	121
Death and burial	127
Burial of the Kalla.	128
Other ceremonies	134
Calendar and other	136
Oral traditions	145
Stories about Kalla	145
The visit to God	147
Stories about Kalla	147
Children that became animals	148
The sheep of God	148
The three wise men	149
The monkey and the elephant	150
The lion and the hyena	151
The origin of death	151
The origin of the war and the xelta groups.	152
The borrowed spear and the swallowed stone	152
The emergence of the division of labour.	153
How death came into the world	153
The sharing of the spoils	153
From the early days of the Konso	154
The Argamaida clan	155
The evil stepmother and the thunder.	156
The daughter of the rich man and the daughter of the poor man	157
The Butota snake	158
Appendix	159
Bibliography	159
List of illustrations	161
Glossary.	165
Index of names	170