

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

Foreword — VII

Preface — XV

Introduction — XVII

Part I: A dynamic landscape for leadership and change

Chapter 1

In constant motion — 3

Our dynamic world — 3

Is it just me? A world in constant motion — 4

From change to changing. From organisations to organising — 10

From change management to managing in change — 15

Change in the flow of changing — 19

What does this mean for leadership? — 23

Key insights — 25

Notes — 26

Chapter 2

Complexity, straightforwardly — 27

Our complex world — 27

Complexity is complex. Can we just simplify things? (Entanglement) — 28

Can we see what's coming? Why prediction doesn't work

(Uncertainty) — 33

Haven't we been here before? The illusion of stability (Patterning) — 40

Can we turn back the clock? Why complexity is a one-way street

(Emergence) — 43

What does this mean for leadership? — 47

Key insights — 49

Notes — 50

Chapter 3

Leadership in the midst — 52

Being in the midst — 52

Yes, it does matter what you say and do — 53

You've got to be in it to change it — 58

- Making differences count — 61
- The challenges of being insiders — 65
- What does this mean for leadership? — 70
- Key insights — 74
- Notes — 75

Part II: Tools and techniques for leadership

Chapter 4

- Applying complexity thinking — 79
 - Rethinking how we think — 79
 - Better to be roughly right than precisely wrong — 80
 - Expanding our mental aperture — 82
 - Thinking about knowing in a dynamic world — 85
 - Questions, not answers — 89
 - Adopting a learning orientation — 92
 - Key insights — 94
 - Notes — 95

Chapter 5

- Noticing what is changing — 96
 - It all starts with noticing — 96
 - Why noticing is so important — 97
 - Becoming a better noticer — 99
 - The power of small, human-scale data — 102
 - Strategies for better noticing — 107
 - Practical tips for better noticing — 110
 - Key insights — 115
 - Notes — 116

Chapter 6

- Spotting the vital signs of change — 117
 - The vital signs — 117
 - Patterning of events — 118
 - Changing patterns of relations — 123
 - Changing patterns of attention — 129
 - Changing patterns of emotion — 134
 - Putting it all together — 137
 - Key insights — 140
 - Notes — 142

Chapter 7

Interpreting reality in flight — 143

- Developing insight — 143
- Conceptual foundations — 144
- Patterns, meta-patterns, and false patterns — 147
- Developing interpretive thinking skills — 150
- Power of other perspectives — 152
- Provisionality, again — 157
- Key insights — 161
- Notes — 161

Chapter 8

Adapting leadership responses — 163

- Going slow to go fast — 163
- Discovering your space for action — 164
- Adapting as you learn — 168
- Acting into the unknowable — 172
- Cultivating enabling conditions — 175
- Keep on keeping on — 181
- Key insights — 183
- Notes — 184

Part III: Leadership in person

Chapter 9

It all starts with you — 189

- Leadership is personal — 189
- You are the instrument — 190
- Ethical practice — 193
- Courageous practice — 196
- Skilful practice — 199
- Key insights — 205
- Notes — 206

Glossary — 207

References — 211

List of figures — 221

List of tables — 223

XIV — Contents

About the author — 225

About the series editor — 227

Index — 229