

-
- 14 The spatial problematic of airport regions
 - 16 The case of Paris Charles de Gaulle
 - 18 Planning as investigative lens
 - 24 The long narrative as study approach

-
- 32 Air transport: a contemporary and evolving reality
 - 37 Airports, global cities, and the "glocal" condition
 - 39 Airports and metropolitan space
 - 44 The economic importance of air transport
 - 47 The negative externalities of airport operation
 - 52 Asymmetries and controversies of airport impacts
 - 54 Planning approaches to airport regions

-
- 68 Institutional and planning change in France
 - 76 The Paris metropolis: a portrait
 - 82 Threads in planning discourse and action

-
- 94 Aviation and technocracy in the post-war period
 - 98 Establishing the necessity of a new airport
 - 101 Planning the deployment of Paris-Nord and the 1965 SDAURP
 - 104 First ramifications of projected externalities
 - 107 The airport as economic structuring facility
 - 111 Channeling development: the working group Paris-Nord
 - 117 Development versus planning
 - 119 The autonomous airport site

CHAPTER 5: Disillusionment and adaptation (1974–1986)

-
- 134 The airport region in the 1976 SDAURIF
 - 137 A green belt in Plaine de France?
 - 139 Regulatory responses to noise impact
 - 141 Organizing ground access to the airport
 - 145 Attempts to enhance accessibility
 - 147 Airport planning in a changing context
 - 151 An (un)planned urbanization and the Paris Nord complex

161

CHAPTER 6: Development in times of liberalization (1986–1994)

-
- 162 Emergence of a new competitive context
 - 164 The airport area as development hub
 - 168 Strategic sector, problematic territory?
 - 171 The awakening of ADP
 - 175 The awakening of local actors
 - 181 Airport impacts and a difficult dialogue
 - 183 The airport area enters planning discourses
 - 188 In search of a development strategy
 - 192 (Re)Designing CDG as competitive asset
 - 195 The airport city takes off
 - 198 A new wave of projects and a persistent stalemate
 - 202 Planning the CDG region: the plan of Mission Roissy
 - 207 Airports as centers of European caliber and the 1994 SDRIF

221

CHAPTER 7: Fatigue and renewal (1994–2004)

-
- 222 What future for the airport-area projects?
 - 227 The airport city struggles
 - 230 An intractable expansion
 - 234 Promoting growth, managing impact: a compromise
 - 236 Competitiveness by design
 - 240 An undecided territory
 - 243 The renewal of the discourse
 - 247 Denial and acceptance: third airport and CDG Express
 - 250 In search of spatial governance
 - 253 A roadmap for planning?

-
- 268 A region and an airport in need of evolution
 - 270 Articulating planning strategies
 - 275 A new governmental impetus
 - 278 A development boom
 - 282 Grand Paris, Grand Roissy, and the “airport corridor”
 - 287 In search of spatial coherence
 - 292 Development as consensus?
 - 294 Converging ideals and the 2013 SDRIF
 - 298 The elusive governance of the airport region

-
- 308 The Paris CDG airport region over time: a synopsis of spatial change
 - 315 Evolving planning approaches in the context of Paris
 - 318 Diachronic airport-related wicked dilemmas
 - 322 The rational, the strategic, and the spatial
 - 323 Planning the impossible?

-
- 328 1. Common Options For Airport Regions (COFAR)
 - 329 2. Current regulatory framework for aircraft noise in Paris