

Preface and acknowledgments	6
-----------------------------	---

Prelude	9
---------	---

I. The teaching of music

On the implicitness of sound

Born into music	19
Sister Gerburga's ruler	23
Every child in Cleveland: the 100-year plan	26
The passionate teacher: Balduin Sulzer	32
Is music really necessary?	38
The first silence	44
Music against a noisy world	47
FIRST JOURNEY – Meditative silence	55

II. The places of music

On the organisation of sound

My years of apprenticeship in London	59
Very grand opera in Zurich	65
Thoughts on director's theatre	75
Wiener "Wahn" (from Richard Wagner)	83
Orchestras as mirrors of the world	91
SECOND JOURNEY – Nature of silence	103

III. Markets of music

On the consumption of sound

In praise of boredom	107
Quiet, please – Recording	117
Gugelhupf and three-quarter time	121
On criticism and passion	125
THIRD JOURNEY – Spirit of silence	133

IV. Artists and music

On the production of sound

Learning from legends	137
The individual and power	141
From my workshop I: Beethoven's Ninth	148
From my workshop II: Der Rosenkavalier	157
Going one's own way	165
FOURTH JOURNEY – Eternity of silence	171
Afterword	175
Index	178