

Contents

0 Introduction	9
1 Characteristics and goals of good (university) teaching.....	11
2 Teaching via web-seminars	15
2.1 What is a web-seminar	15
2.2 Planning and organization.....	15
2.3 Forms of online teaching.....	18
2.4 Recommended activities	20
2.5 Content creation and information transfer	22
2.5.1 Useful reference tools	22
2.5.2 Accessibility of the digital content	23
2.5.3 How to make use of the cloud.....	23
2.5.4 Storing paperback documents	27
2.6 The 10 principles of teaching (online)	28
2.6.1 Simplicity is the key.....	28
2.6.2 Promote inclusivity and shift the thinking to make courses more flexible and accessible	28
2.6.3 Establish a digital home base.....	30
2.6.4 Design should be based on your learning objectives.....	30
2.6.5 Feedback must be prompt.....	31
2.6.6 Use group and peer interaction to foster community	32
2.6.7 Keep connected with students and colleagues.....	33
2.6.8 Set up an active learning environment.....	34
2.6.9 Deploy asynchronous communication tools	34
2.6.10 Rethink assessment	35
3 Short presentation of selected tools and platforms	37
3.1 Zoom – a unique video meeting platform	38
3.2 Microsoft Teams – a communication and collaboration platform.....	41
3.3 E-learning platform Moodle.....	43
3.4 Other (less known) tools	46
4 Examples of teaching by using e-learning platforms and online tools.....	49
4.1 Module 1: Development, implementation, and presentation of portraits (or podcasts).....	49
4.2 Module 2: Business German and online project work with Wiki	55

4.3	Module 3: Improving writing skills in the formal communication	60
4.4	Module 4: Online tools for computer-assisted translation.....	65
4.5	Module 5: Improving interpreting skills though live streaming	71
4.6	Module 6: Acquiring fundamental knowledge of teamwork	73
5	Conclusion	77
6	Literature	79