

Table of Contents

Thomas-Andreas Pöder

Introducing new directions in semiotic methodologies for the study of religion — 1

PART I: Theoretical perspectives

Thomas-Andreas Pöder

Religion in the semiosphere: Theosemiotics in dialogue with Juri Lotman — 29

Francesco Piluso

Reveal and re-veil the sacred: Fetishism and fetishes in religious social discourse and practices — 53

Fred Cummins

Vain repetitions: The role of joint speech in enacting collective subjectivities — 73

Michael L. Raposa

Theology, metasemiosis and the ethics of attention — 87

PART II: Applications: Texts and case studies

Remo Gramigna

The semiotics of likeness: Identity, verisimilitude and falsity in Augustine — 107

Alin Olteanu

An overlooked episode in the history of semiotics: The iconoclast controversy and its relevance for the iconic turn — 125

Takaharu Oda

Semiotics against transubstantiation: Peirce's reception of Berkeley — 147

Naomi Janowitz

A Peircean approach to late antique ascent texts — 171

Tatsuma Padoan

On the Semiotics of Space in the Study of Religions: Theoretical Perspectives and Methodological Challenges — 189

Jenny Ponzo and Francesco Galofaro

Religion and the semiotization of space: The case of the Madonna del Rocciamelone — 215

Mony Almalech

Colors as a semiotic tool for Bible analysis — 243

Massimo Leone

Form and force of the sacred: A semiotic study of the temptations of Saint Anthony — 267

Authors and editors biographies — 299

Index — 303