

Contents

I Introductory remarks

Johannes Kabatek, Philipp Obrist and Albert Wall

The third wave of studies on DOM in Romance: An introduction to this volume — 3

Georg Bossong

DOM and linguistic typology: A personal view — 21

II Research perspectives

Chantal Melis

From topic marking to definite object marking: Focusing on the beginnings of Spanish DOM — 39

Alessia Cassarà and Sophie Mürmann

Role-semantic parameters for DOM in Italian — 65

Elisabeth Mayer and Liliana Sánchez

Emerging DOM patterns in clitic doubling and dislocated structures in Peruvian-Spanish contact varieties — 103

Albert Wall and Philipp Obrist

Multilingualism effects in an elicitation study on Differential Object Marking in Cusco (Peru) and Misiones (Argentina) — 139

Alina Tigău

Differential Object Marking in Romanian and Spanish: A contrastive analysis between differentially marked and unmarked direct objects — 173

Niklas Wiskandt

Scale-based object marking in Spanish and Portuguese: leísmo, null objects and DOM — 213

VI — Contents

Anna Pineda

The development of DOM in the diachrony of Catalan: (Dis)similarities with respect to Spanish — 243

Senta Zeugin

DOM in Modern Catalan varieties: An empirical study based on acceptability judgment tasks — 279

Diego Romero Heredero

Telicity and Differential Object Marking in the history of Spanish — 315

Javier Caro Reina, Marco García García and Klaus von Heusinger

Differential Object Marking in Cuban Spanish — 339

Index — 369