

Contents

List of Figures, Plates and Tables	vii
List of Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
Mary Hammond
1 The Rise of Night Reading in Nineteenth-Century Britain	9
Christopher Ferguson
2 The Book as Prop in the Missionary Imagination: Picturing Africans as Readers	30
Natalie Fossey and Lize Kriel
3 Augustus De Morgan (1806–71), His Reading and His Library	62
Karen Attar
4 William Gladstone Reads His Contemporaries	83
Michael Wheeler
5 Reading While Travelling in the Long Nineteenth Century	104
Mary Hammond
6 The Empire Reads Back: Travel, Exploration and the British World in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries	124
John McAleer
7 ‘Knowledge of books’ and ‘Appreciation of literature’: Reading Choices of Aspiring American Librarians in the Progressive Era	145
Christine Pawley
8 Papers, Posters and Pamphlets: UK Readers in the Second World War	165
Simon Eliot
9 Peace of Mind in the Age of Anxiety: Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman and America’s Post-war Therapeutic Faith	185
Cheryl Oestreicher

10	Reading and Classical Music in Mid-Twentieth-Century America Joan Shelley Rubin	206
11	Remaking the World Through Reading: Books, Readers and the Global Project of Modernity, 1945–70 Amanda Laugesen	226
12	Amazing Stories , 1950–3: The Readers Behind the Covers Angelle Whavers	250
13	The Other Digital Divide: Gendering Science Fiction Fan Reading in Print and Online, 1930 to the Present Cait Coker	264
14	‘A bolt is shot back somewhere in the breast’ (Matthew Arnold, ‘The Buried Life’): A Methodology for Literary Reading in the Twenty-First Century Philip Davis and Josie Billington	283
	Select Bibliography	306
	Index of Methods and Sources	334
	General Index	335