

Contents

Introduction	11
1 Thoughts and Thought Identity	19
1.1 Thoughts	19
1.1.1 The top-down approach to thoughts	21
1.1.2 The bottom-up approach to thoughts	24
1.2 Criteria for Thought Identity	26
1.2.1 The bottom-up approach to thought identity	31
1.2.2 The top-down approach to thought identity	44
1.2.3 Objections to senses as objects	52
Summary	61
2 Thoughts and truth	63
2.1 Arguments against Truth as a Property	63
2.1.1 The regress arguments and responses	63
2.1.2 Responses to the regress arguments	66
2.1.3 The inconsistency of the notion of truth	67
2.2 Eliminability and Definability	72
2.2.1 Does eliminability exclude truth as a property?	72
2.2.2 Definability of truth	75
Summary	81
3 Frege on Logical Truth	83
3.1 Universalism, Schematism and Modernism	83
3.1.1 Universalism	83
3.1.2 Modernism	87
3.1.3 Schematism	90
3.2 The Universalist Conception of Logical Truth	94
3.2.1 Logical truths as the utmost generality	95
3.2.2 Problems with the notion of U-logical truth	98
3.2.3 Objections to the notion of U-logical truth	107

3.3	Frege's Conception of Independence	115
3.3.1	Frege's notion of independence	116
3.3.2	Problems with Frege's substitutional method . . .	121
	Summary	122
4	The Tension between Universalism and Nonuniversalism in Grundgesetze	125
4.1	Universalism and Nonuniversalism in Grundgesetze	125
4.1.1	Total functions	127
4.1.2	Four readings of §§29-31	135
4.2	Restricted Domains of Quantification and Linguistic Completeness	159
	Summary	172
5	Universalism and Metalogic	173
5.1	Arguments for and against the Non-metalogic Thesis . . .	173
5.1.1	Two kinds of metalogics	173
5.1.2	Truth-predicate and metalogic	178
5.1.3	Logic as the language and metalogic	187
5.1.4	Logic per se, logicism, and metalogic	197
5.1.5	Circularity and metalogic	208
5.2	The Permutation Argument in §10	214
5.2.1	Model-theoretical readings of the permutation argument	218
5.2.2	Ricketts' reading of the permutation argument . . .	232
5.3	The Consistency Proof in §31	240
5.3.1	From the perspectives of the universalist and auxiliary readings	241
5.3.2	From the perspective of the nonauxiliary reading . .	242
5.3.3	From the perspective of the completely nonauxiliary reading	243
	Summary	249
	Conclusion	251