

Acknowledgements	7
List of Common Abbreviations	9
Note on Dates, Transliterations, and Translations	10
Introduction: The Problem of Impermanence	11
Early Abbasid palaces and the Dār al-Khilāfa of Samarra as a case study	12
Research on Samarra's palaces since the first recorded excavations	13
Architecture and audience	15
Approach and outline	16
1. Grandeur and Impermanence: The Construction of Samarra and Other Palace Complexes in the Early Abbasid Period	19
Samarra's rise and fall as the Abbasid imperial residence	19
Impermanence in early Abbasid palaces	22
Impediments to permanence: Geography and politics	25
The theme of architectural impermanence in Abbasid literature	27
Historical consciousness and the relevance of a lasting legacy	30
Glorious impermanence	33
2. A Place Set Apart: Building with Open Space in Abbasid Palace Exteriors	35
The difficulties of Samarra's Bāb al-Āmma	36
The use of open space in Abbasid palace plans	39
Exterior zones and Abbasid ceremonial	43
Palace as ḥarīm	46
The phenomenology of open space	48
3. An Architecture of Temporary Events: The Adornment of the Audience Hall Complex in Samarra's Dār al-Khilāfa	51
A note on sources	53
The plan of the Audience Hall Complex	53
Wall ornament found in situ: Orderly arrangements from varied sources	55
Detached architectural fragments: A case of selective opulence?	60
The architectural surface and the Abbasid audience	64
The architecture of events	69
4. An Ever-Changing Surface: Impermanence and Ornament in Abbasid Palaces	71
Varied vegetation: Aesthetic flexibility in the ornament of Abbasid palaces	73
Aesthetic rigidity in the ornament of Abbasid mosques?	77
Mutable configurations: Reuse in Samarra's palaces and beyond	78
Ornament, impermanence, and the elusive nature of "Abbasid style"	80
5. An Enduring Trace: Palaces, Poetry, and the Literary Canon	83
Architectural and verbal monuments	85
The Samarra palace poems as exemplary "modern" works	87
Abbasid palaces as timeless Arab architecture	90
Poetic truths	92
The afterlife of the Samarra palace poems	94

Conclusion: The Concept of an “Impermanent Monument” and Its Legacy	97
Other early Islamic palatine traditions and their relationship to time	98
Contrasting temporalities in Islamic architecture and beyond	101
Appendix I: Select Transcriptions from Herzfeld’s Second Campaign Diary	103
Appendix II: Partial Inventory of Fragments of Architectural Ornament and Furnishings Attributable to the Dār al-Khilāfa of Samarra	109
Note on organization of inventory	109
Note on content of records	111
Links to related online resources	111
Inventory by Findspot Area	113
Bibliography	141
Index	153
Credits for photographs illustrated in figures	159
Figures	161