

Table of Contents

Preface	9
Introduction.....	11
1. Research Questions and State of the Field	11
2. Problem Statement, Theoretical Approach, and Contents Overview	20
3. Technical Remarks	26
I. Biographical Sketch	29
1. Historical Context	30
2. The Lifelines of Widad Sakakini	37
II. Widad Sakakini's Position in the Literary Field	59
1. Circles of Consecration	61
2. »Feminist Criticism« and »Women's Literature«	97
3. The Transnational Web of Women Interlocutors.....	118
4. Summary: The Location of Widad Sakakini's Literature	128
III. The Narrative Work.....	135
1. The Context: The Changing Marriage Market.....	136
2. Women as Bodies, Women as Partners	143
3. Women's Lines of Escape	150
4. Summary: Man-Hating, Illogical, Ambivalent, Misogynist, or Feminist Plots?.....	160
IV. The Debate about the Prophet's Wives	169
1. The Contexts: The Uses of Early Muslim Women—Bint al-Shati's Social Position	170
2. The Controversy between Sakakini and Bint al-Shati'	176
3. Muhammad's Pleasures and their Intertextual Relations	183
4. The Images of 'A'isha and Fatima	189
5. Summary: Opposing Ways of Rewriting the Tradition.....	202
V. Towards a Gender History of Early Islam?	207
1. The Context: The Historiography of Early Islam	207

2. The Consolidation of the Early Muslim Community	210
3. Interpretation of the Biographies	239
4. Summary: The Controversy as a Conflict between Secular and Islamic Feminism?.....	246
 VI. Mobility and Belonging	251
1. A Transnational Biography	252
2. Feminism, Secularism, and Islam	266
 Conclusion	283
 Bibliography	295
1. Works by Widad Sakakini	295
2. Secondary Literature.....	305
3. Interviews	325
 Appendix	327
1. List of figures	327
2. List of tables	328
3. Index of names	329